PROSECUTOR MADE TARGET FOR ATTACK

ROBERT E. CROWE

Special Grand Jury Investigation Will Be Asked By Democrat Committee

TO ANSWER CHARGES

Allege Crowe Used Gangsters to Aid Mayoralty Campaign for Thompson

(By United Press)
CHICAGO, March 29.—A special grand jury will be asked today to investigate the activities of State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, who is charged with using "gangsters and hoodlums" to aid the mayoralty campaign of ex-Mayor William Hale Thompson, Republican.

The request for the special grand jury and a special prosecuting attorney will be made before Chief Justice William J. Lindsey, of the criminal court, by members of the Democratic state committee.

Crowe, a vigorous prosecutor and leader of a powerful Republican faction in Cook county, dismissed the charges by saying it was "cheap politics" to fill the eye of election. The mayoralty election is April 5.

He said he would be in court to answer the charges.

With differences ignored out, the outlook in Sacramento for the passage of the orange county flood control bill today was reported as entirely satisfactory to the delegation of orange county representatives who reached Sacramento yesterday.

In the party from this county were S. H. Finley, county supervisor; William C. Jerome, county auditor; Sam Jeranian, sheriff; and L. A. West, attorney, who drew up the bill for the county, and J. P. Baumgartner, state highway commissioner.

Finley's presence at Sacramento was due not only to the fact that the flood control bill was scheduled for a hearing before a state senate committee tonight, but also because of a hearing, yesterday, on amendments to the metropolitan water act bill. The water act bill is the measure that proposes machinery whereby a district can be organized of all cities and districts desiring to participate in bringing water from the Colorado river to the coastal section of Southern California.

This morning a telegram received this morning from the county representatives, the amendments to the water act, as suggested by the committee of the Colorado river aqueduct association, were approved yesterday by the senate committee. Further, it was stated that "everything is moving smoothly on the county flood control bill, as all parties are satisfied and expect to get approval of the amendments through the senate without opposition."

The flood control bill is the measure which it is proposed, shall be used for organizing a district for the building of the Prado dam. The measure went through the assembly without opposition, although it was disclosed there that Riverside representatives desired a number of amendments in order to give that county ample protection in case the proposed conservation district constructs a dam in Riverside county.

FRESNO, March 29.—Adam Axt, 23, died here late last night from injuries he received when a shot-lance was accidentally discharged.

Axt, with five companions, had started on a hunting trip. A shotgun fell against the side of the car and the shot hit Axt in the face.

Accidental Gun Discharge Fatal

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Edgar Morris Wilkins, of Savannah, Ga., and his 10-year-old son were kidnapped by bandits on March 27, near Guadalajara, Mexico, American Consul Dwyer reported from that city to the state department today. Following release of the son to carry a ransom demand of 40,000 pesos to Guadalajara, authorities are renewing search for Wilkins, whose plight is considered "very dangerous," the consul said.

Mexican Bandits Kidnap Americans

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Senator Capper of Kansas said in Milwaukee, "Either the Senate will revise its archaic rule, or the people will revise the Senate." But will they? "The Senate" itself is protected by the Constitution, and can not be revised. All that can be revised is the Senators. And each of them can be revised only by his own state.

Every filibuster is popular somewhere. And that somewhere is usually in the State of the Senator doing the filibustering. The rest of the nation, which resents the filibuster, has no vote against the filibuster. And when a new issue comes up, in which the people of an objecting state are interested, they expect their Senator to filibuster too.

OUR system provides no way in which the voice of the people of the United States can be expressed except in the election of President, and there is no one to represent the whole people except the President. Congress represents, not the whole nation, but the sum of all its parts, which is a very different thing. The sum of the local interests of all the states or districts is not the national interest. And the interest of each district separately is usually the reverse of the national interest. Each district is interested in appropriations, and the sum of them all is extravagance. The national interest is in economy.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The president Coolidge has decided to go to Wisconsin on his vacation.

Two secret service men of the White House staff now are in the west looking over the places to which the president has been invited and they carry orders to find a place in the La Follette stronghold if it meets the necessary requirements.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE TO DO HIS FISHING IN WISCONSIN

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Their favorable reports are expected within the week, and an official announcement may be made by the president within a few days thereafter.

Mr. Coolidge decided to select Wisconsin because it will afford him 24-hour transportation to Washington and will give him the fishing he desires on his annual vacation trips.

Charges Against Attorney Dropped

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—District Attorney Matthew Brady today stood officially cleared of charges that payroll shortages and irregularities had existed in his office. The county grand jury, after a two-hour investigation last night, during which 20 witnesses were questioned, found there was nothing to substantiate the allegations.

RITES FOR SCULPTOR

CLAREMONT, Calif., March 29.—Funeral services will be held here today for Burt William Johnson, noted sculptor, who died Sunday, following an illness of three years.

Hutchings Must Serve Sentence

ALBANY, N. Y., March 29.—The court of appeals today decided that Everett A. Hutchings must return to California and complete a sentence in San Quentin prison for grand larceny.

It was claimed by the governor of California that Hutchings was placed on parole by misrepresentation by himself and attorneys.

Governor Smith granted a request for extradition, which later was set aside by Supreme Court Justice Levy, in New York. The court of appeals today reversed the lower court's decision.

Man Runs Wild With Gun; Kills One, Wounds Second

OAKLAND, Calif., March 29.—One man was killed and another fatally wounded today, when Phillip Cappell, 59, ran wild at the Oakland municipal wood yard and wielded an ancient Spanish gun.

Edward W. Frier, 50, a clerk at the yard, was shot to death, while Clarence Ardoue, 29, was shot directly above the heart. Surgeons operated, hoping to save his life.

Other laborers at the wood yard said Cappell evidently was seized with a maniacal frenzy, following a brooding spell all night after Frier, in charge, complained that inmates at the yard were burning the electric lights too late.

"They tried to kill me in the back yard," was all that Cappell would say.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The most widely advertised military movement of its size in history—that of a handful of U. S. marines to China—is getting under way today at three points along the Atlantic seaboard.

The march of the 10,000 Greeks, over which the freshman Greek student cons laboriously; Hannibal's advance upon Italy, Napoleon's campaigns into Italy, Egypt and Russia—none received the publicity attending the long trip to China of the 1500 marines.

They start today and the world knows. The first contingent leaves from the home base at Quantico, Va., this afternoon, two trainloads pulling out for San Diego at 2 p. m. Two other trains will take the remainder of the Quantico allotment tomorrow. Four special trains will leave Philadelphia at 1 p. m. tomorrow, carrying 364 marines concentrated there. Those from the Paris Island, South Carolina, base leave on a special train tomorrow afternoon for San Diego. They all will be in San Diego by next Sunday, when the transport Henderson is due to arrive to embark them for China. The Henderson probably will steam from San Diego Monday morning on the 23-day sea trip to China.

Passing over the moral effect, which already has been large, the actuality is almost insignificant—1500 marines, who would be lost in an average-sized American town minus their uniforms and equipment. During the World such a movement would have attracted almost no attention.

Today it is heralded far and wide. Newspaper reports flashed the news of this expeditionary force when it was made public and have been scurrying about since to get the details. All who go have become heroes overnight.

ALBANIA REPORTED TO BE MOBILIZING

BELGRADE, March 29.—The Jugo-Slav government today notified the powers that Albania was mobilizing and simultaneously announced that Jugo-Slavia would take certain defensive measures as a precaution. The Jugo-Slav notification to the powers emphasized the dangers to peace attendant upon an Albanian mobilization.

Winship Named as Aide to Coolidge

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Col. Blanton Winship, law officer in the court of the Col. William Mitchell, has been appointed military aide to President Coolidge, it was announced at the White House today. Winship will replace Col. Sherwood Cheney, who desired active duty in the engineering corps.

More Trouble Anticipated In Wuhu District

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, March 29.—American Minister MacMurray transmitted to the state department today recommendations of American officials at Nanking that "some action sufficiently strong" to prevent repetitions elsewhere of the Nanking riots be taken.

MacMurray described the Nanking, commander of the Yangtze as worse than at first reported.

Rear-Admiral Hough, at Nanking, commander of the Yangtze river patrol, reported to MacMurray that "the situation at Wuhu is worse; trouble is stirring up and may be expected at any moment."

The state department today announced:

"Minister MacMurray further informed the state department of the receipt of a message from Nanking, under date of March 27, (Chinese time) that examination of depositions and verbal statements made by reliable Americans show that the outrages committed by Nationalist soldiers at Nanking were even more riotous than was at first realized.

"There were two known cases of attempted, but unsuccessful, criminal assault upon women. There were also several other cases only slightly less serious in character.

Terrorism Prearranged

"The message states that the campaign of terrorism and insult to foreigners is not only officially countenanced and directed, but even prearranged. The incident at Nanking could hardly have been more outrageous. The worst incidents would have been greatly multiplied but for the timely bombardment.

"Suggestion is made by this (MacMurray) message of the immediate withdrawal of all Americans in Nationalist territory and the undertaking of some action sufficiently strong to defer the perpetration of similar incidents elsewhere."

Agitation in the native city of Shanghai and the adjacent district of Chapei continues, according to a dispatch of the navy department from Com. C. S. Williams, of the Asiatic fleet. The message was dated 2:55 p. m. today, (Shanghai time).

Although the international settlement and the French concession at Shanghai continued quiet, several attempts of individual Chinese and small mobs to enter the settlement required attention of border sentries and patrols, who kept out the invaders.

The American destroyer William B. Preston will leave Shanghai tomorrow for Chefoo at the request of the U. S. consul there. The destroyer Pillsbury is reported by Williams as proceeding up the Yangtze to evacuate missionaries at Nantintchow and neighboring places.

ADDITIONAL FORCES ORDERED TO SHANGHAI

HONGKONG, March 29.—British armored cars and additional artillery and infantry were ordered to Shanghai today.

The first field brigade, the fourth pack brigade and a signal detachment of the British royal artillery were embarking for Shanghai today, accompanied by the thirteenth infantry brigade headquarters staff, the fifth armored car company, the thirteenth brigade of signal men and a battalion of infantry from the Green Howard regiment.

AMERICAN MISSION REPORTED LOOTED

PEKING, March 29.—An American Catholic mission at Patachui, in southern Kwangtung, has been looted by Chinese, reports here today said.

The fathers took refuge in Kowchow. No casualties were reported.

Americans in northern Honan and Anhwei provinces were ordered evacuated by the legation here. Virtually all foreigners have left southern Shantung.

EVACUATION IS REQUESTED BY CONSUL

Situation Is Bad Following Clash Between English Sailors and Chinese

VIOLENCE IS FEARED

Surrender of Naval Force Is Demanded by Natives

(By United Press)

SHANGHAI, March 29.—The British consul at Changsha today ordered immediate evacuation of all British nationals there after a slight engagement involving British sailors from H. M. S. Woodcock and Chinese. The situation at Changsha was described as extremely bad in dispatches received here.

The Chinese commissioner for foreign affairs at Changsha issued a statement demanding that the British sailors involved in the clash be surrendered "to permit us to take drastic action." The statement also demanded the withdrawal of British warships.

It was understood that the commissioner of foreign affairs had withdrawn extra territoriality rights from all British subjects at Changsha.

The U. S. S. Pittsburgh left for Mantung Chow and Jukoa today to rescue missionaries in those cities, numbering about 20. At Wuhu, judged as one of the danger spots in China today, plans were proceeding for the evacuation of the remaining five Americans. Laborers at Wuhu were active today and a huge demonstration was planned there for April 1.

800 British Arrive

Eight hundred British soldiers of the border regiment arrived today and were to proceed to billets on land immediately.

Up river from Shanghai the situation continued tense today, especially at Hankow and Wuhu, where it was feared that violence might occur. Eugene Chen, Cantonese Nationalist foreign minister, is inclined to moderation, but some authorities here believed the situation had gone beyond his control, as the extremists among the Nationalist following were determined to rule. That faction, it was said, was responsible for the evacuation of Hankow by virtually the entire foreign community. Foreign banks at Hankow were closed indefinitely and trade was stagnant.

The steamer Suwo arrived today with 235 refugees aboard. The Suwo's passengers chiefly represented Scandinavian-American missions and most of them were from the vicinity of Minnesota.

The highest estimate of Nanking native casualties in the recent bombardment made in responsible Nationalist quarters, was 2000, and that figure, all news sources indicated, was highly exaggerated.

Shanghai itself was quiet today and immediate danger of an attack on the foreign settlement seemed to have passed. Foreign troops continued their vigilant guard, however.

Refugee Situation Acute

The refugee situation was becoming acute, with hundreds of missionaries and others from interior cities concentrating inside the settlement. Most of them had been forced to flee from their homes without baggage, and scores were without funds.

No attempts to relieve the congestion by sending refugees back to their native lands had been made, as all efforts of the consular staffs had been devoted to preventing further disorders in interior cities of the Yangtze valley.

Telegraph service was restored today at Hankow. Hangchow, Ningpo, Shaoing and Wenchow and reports from all parts of the Yangtze valley indicated the first surge of rabid Nationalism, which followed the Cantonese capture of Shanghai and Nanking, had died down.

Bad aim of the Nationalist soldiers prevented casualties in the case of Soochow house, at Nanking. John D. Wilson, signal man from the U. S. S. Noa, told the United Press.

Wilson and H. O. Warren and D. D. Taylor, signal men from the U. S. S. Preston, were stationed at the Soochow house, which is on a hill and visible from the river, to warn the American and British ships if foreigners were endangered.

The northern army retreated so fast it had no time to loot. When the Cantonese entered the city the situation became tense. The signal men were wiggling to the ships from the roof of Soochow house most of the day, while Cantonese machine gunners, 200 yards away, shot

CHECKS BEGIN TO ARRIVE FOR OFFICER'S FUND

Three checks for $5 each were received today and added to the fund being raised by The Register to aid Frank Vaughn, Orange county state traffic officer, who is lying in a Los Angeles hospital, one leg amputated and his hand permanently disabled as the result of a motorcycle accident, last summer, while in the line of duty.

Vaughn is making a brave fight to hold together his small family, a wife and two children, one of whom was born only a few weeks ago. Because of his crippled condition and the fight he is making, persons throughout the county asked that the fund be started.

The checks received today all came in the same envelope, showing the interest this family has in Vaughn's fight and its desire to help him in his courageous struggle.

Persons who wish to assist the officer, who will be a cripple the remainder of his life, are asked to mail their checks to "The Vaughn Fund," care the Santa Ana Register. Below is the money received to date:

THREE MEN INJURED AS CAR, TRUCK HIT

Three men were seriously injured and an automobile wrecked in a collision today when a truck skidded and crashed against a roadster at the intersection of Orangeforpe and Magnolia avenues, on the outskirts of Fullerton.

Dick Soulier, 318 North Claudina street, Anaheim, driver of the truck, received a fracture of one leg and internal injuries. Jesus Saldana, who was with him on the truck, had one ear nearly shorn away by glass, while his throat was badly cut. Both men were hurled from the truck and were unconscious when picked up.

L. E. Snyder, of Brea, driver of the roadster that was struck by the truck, received a fracture of his right arm. J. E. Leech, who accompanied him, was only slightly injured. All of the injured were removed to an Anaheim hospital.

WOMAN KILLED AS AUTO SKIDS AND OVERTURNS

Mrs. Faith L. Mettler, 43, a widow, residing at 531 East Commonwealth avenue, Fullerton, was killed at 10 a. m., today, when the automobile she was driving skidded on a wet road near Los Alamitos and overturned in an irrigation ditch.

The woman was found lying in the wreckage of her machine, her body covered with water, by R. D. Green, Los Alamitos real estate man. Mrs. Mettler died while Green was taking her to the Long Beach Community hospital. There were no witnesses to the accident.

Mrs. Mettler died of internal injuries, it was believed. There were few severe marks on her face or body.

Arthur Koepsel, deputy coroner, who made an investigation, said it had not been determined whether Mrs. Mettler died in this county or in Los Angeles county.

Mrs. Mettler is survived by one daughter, Ruth, 15, a student in Fullerton high school, and two sisters, Mrs. T. L. Mohler and S. L. Meredith, both of 1044 Lucas avenue, Long Beach. It was thought that Mrs. Mettler was on her way from Fullerton to Long Beach to visit the sisters at the time of the tragedy.

Mrs. Mettler was well known in Fullerton. She owned a ranch at Corona.

Time for the coroner's inquest into the woman's death has not been set.

FURTHER ATTACKS FEARED AT WUHU

LONDON, March 29.—Further attacks on foreigners at Wuhu were feared today as the Cantonese mounted big guns on the hills overlooking both the city and the American and British warships anchored in the river, the Daily Express in Shanghai correspondent reported.

The Daily Mail's correspondent said the Nationalists were mounting guns on Lion hill at Nanking and were training them on the American and British warships in the Yangtze.

JAPAN WILL HOLD CANTONESE RESPONSIBLE

TOKIO, March 29.—Japan will hold Chiang Kai Shek and the Cantonese government responsible for the Nanking incident, the cabinet decided today.

FRENCH TO REINFORCE TROOP IN SHANGHAI

PARIS, March 29.—France today moved to reinforce her armed guards at Shanghai. The Quai d'Orsay announced that a battalion of Annamites was leaving Indo-China for Shanghai.

SHANGHAI March 29.—The Chinese military commander at Wuhu, potentially most dangerous spot in China, today sent an ultimatum to British authorities, according to reliable information here. The ultimatum demanded an indemnity for the lives of at least 35 Chinese drowned many weeks ago, when a British-owned merchant vessel struck a launch. Unless the indemnity is paid, the Chinese were said to have threatened to seize the captain of the steamer. The indemnity asked amounted to about $2500 for each of the drowned Chinese.

BANKER ESCAPES AS HIS AUTO OVERTURNS

F. E. (Ed) Farnsworth, 2219 North Broadway, vice-president of the First National bank, narrowly escaped death or serious injury at 8 a. m. today when the automobile he was driving turned over, on a road north of the highway leading to Orange county park.

The accident occurred when Farnsworth attempted to avoid a collision with a machine driven by P. A. Price, Orange, Route No. 2, which suddenly came onto the road from another thoroughfare. The Farnsworth automobile hit several iron pipes, protruding above the road surface, which serve as a protection to a culvert. When the car struck the pipes the rear end skidded on the wet pavement and overturned.

Neither Farnsworth nor John Deck, Villa Park, riding with the banker, was injured.

Farnsworth was motoring from his ranch at Villa Park to his Irvine ranch at the time of the accident.

TURTLE RETURNS AFTER LONG HIKE

SACRAMENTO, March 29.—"Mamma," a pet turtle belonging to Detective Sergt. E. M. Brown of the Sacramento police is back home after having been on a "tour" for two years, during which she traveled 30 miles.

Sergeant Brown, for many years a fish and turtle fancier, had "Mamma" and "Papa," two pet turtles which he kept in a fish pond at his home. One morning Brown decided to brand his turtles and on the shell of each he carved his initials.

Two years ago "Mamma" turtle strayed off to face the world alone, while "Papa" turtle remained within the confines of Brown's pond.

Recently Detective Frank McAlister and Verne Lewis, on official business in Locke, near here, noticed a moving object beneath a porch, and on further scrutiny found a turtle. On the shell were the initials "E. M. B."

'Temple of Dance' May Be Memorial

PARIS, March 29.—Isadora Duncan's old "Temple of the Dance," sold for debt, is likely to be bought by public subscription and made a memorial school.

Friends of the dancer, aided by Comodia, a theatrical paper, have raised a good part of the third of a million francs needed to buy back the property.

This "temple" once was a fine old, high-ceilinged villa in Neuilly, but when Isadora Duncan's life became complicated by her Russian poet-husband and her interest in the ways of the Moscow Bolsheviks, it became a manufacturing plant and recently was sold under a mortgage foreclosure.

Isadora Duncan is to operate the school but it will be given to the government.

CONDITION CRITICAL

BUCHAREST, March 29.—King Ferdinand's illness became critical today and it was reported that the royal family would cancel plans to visit Italy and Sicily next month.

The name for foot soldiers originated in Spain. The king, abducted by the Moors, was rescued by an army of foot-soldiers organized by the Infante. Thus the term "infantry."

at them. None was injured, Wilson said.

"These birds' aim is bad. But I sure ducked," he said.

When U. S. Consul Davis arrived at Socony house he ordered everyone to disarm to avoid antagonizing the Chinese, Wilson said.

At noon the situation quieted and the signal men went to a nearby house for food. They were stopped by five Cantonese, who took all their money. Wilson ruefully said he could have "got all five" if he had had his pistol.

"They were just kids—all under 20 except the leader," he said.

"They were excellently equipped with good shoes and up-to-date guns."

After lunch they returned to Socony house and then the Chinese attempted to force their way to the foreign women and children huddled inside.

"Finally Davis ordered the ships to start the bombardment, and were given our arms," Wilson said. "Then I felt better. Between us we sniped seven Chinese in between signals. I plunked one myself."

We say, "Come and hear a Kolster Radio, or let us give you a demonstration at home if you prefer."

Kolster Radio appeals to the eye but its main appeal is to the ear.

Musical experts while they seek beautiful cabinets and advanced engineering, choose their radios chiefly by comparison. Their critical ears demand the utmost in reproduction.

That is why Kolster Radio has become known as the "musician's radio." It is preferred by famous orchestral conductors, singers, composers and musicians.

commission men—to whom they paid 15 per cent commission. The commission men controlled the situation, he said, by first getting a financial hold on the Japanese growers and making prices to them the basis of all prices.

Sapiro said he met the situation by forming a co-operative with equal Japanese and American representation on the board of directors.

He told of the difficulties of the California tomato growers during the war, when $15 was set as a basic price per ton for tomatoes.

Price Too Low

"It was too low," he said. "We appealed to the California food administration, but it did nothing. We appealed to the national food administration. It did nothing. Then we appealed to U. S. Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, and he did something."

"As a result, the tomato growers were allowed to sell their tomatoes at an open market price."

Reed, now defending Ford against Sapiro, acknowledged the credit given him, but not until he had made formal objections.

Electricity to Be Used to Run Clocks in Paris

PARIS, March 29.—Air-driven clocks that have given Parisians the wrong time for 40 years are being electrified.

These pneumatic street clocks seldom registered alike and are blamed for a large share in giving Paris the reputation of not having any two clocks that tell the same time.

The pneumatic clocks operated by compressed air, stopped working at midnight upon the expiration of a 40-year contract with a private company. Electric mechanisms are ready for them and when cables are laid in the street the clocks of Paris will be regulated from the famous Observatoire, which fixes time for France and its colonies.

In the old days the approximate time was quite good enough but loud complaints arose when the world began to hurry and it was found that the clocks were very much out of step with the sun.

MARKETERS ASK PROTECTION IN CARE OF GROVE

Attempting to enter the citrus groves of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R.
Marson, near Brea, to cultivate the orchards, on which it claims to hold a heavy mortgage, the Randolph Marketing company was warned off under threat of physical violence to its agents, according to statements made today in an injunction suit filed in superior court.

The Randolph Marketing company seeks to restrain the Mar-sons from interfering with employees of the company sent into the Marson grove to care for the property.

The suit sets forth that the marketing company loaned the Marsons $120,000, with the 76 acres of citrus orchard as security. It further states that a balance of approximately $115,000 remains unpaid, while interest payments are said to be delinquent.

The marketing company claims that the owners of the property are allowing it to deteriorate, thus threatening security for the loan.
When men were sent on the property to cultivate it, the owners drove them off, it is claimed.

The marketing company claims the right, under the loan agreement, to enter the premises and take steps to protect its security.
Thus, the protection of the court is sought.

Attorney Leroy M. Edwards, Los Angeles, represents the plaintiff.

RAIN IN SANTA ANA TOTALS .11 OF INCH

Light showers visiting Santa Ana after 7 a. m., left in the wake .11 of an inch, according to reports at 1 o'clock today by Hill and Son, local observers. This makes the season total 15.42 inches, as against 7.47 inches for the corresponding date of last season.

Showers also prevailed in other sections of Southern California.
Up to 8 o'clock this morning, .04 of an inch had fallen in Los Angeles, making the total for the season there 16.78 inches. On the same date a year ago the record was 9.85 inches.

Only a trace of rain fell at Newport Harbor, Mt. Wilson recording .01 of an inch, San Fernando
.02 and Santa Barbara .46.

The forecast is for cloudy weather tonight and tomorrow, accompanied by mild temperature.

MOTOR OFFICER IS OPERATED ON AGAIN

Surgeons today operated on the right arm of Lauren ("Pat") Hurd, well known Orange county state traffic officer, in an effort to correct permanently a fracture sustained 16 months ago when his motorcycle crashed into a telephone pole on South Main street here.

The operation was performed in the Santa Fe hospital, Los Angeles. Surgeons removed a piece of the shin bone from one of Hurd's legs and grafted it to the bone above the elbow.

Hurd's arm was broken just above the elbow. Medical treatment was given, but the bone never mended properly. Several weeks ago, physicians broke the arm again, hoping that a second healing would correct the injury, but this operation proved unsuccessful.

FLEET CONCLUDES BATTLE PRACTICE

WITH THE ATLANTIC FLEET
IN THE CARIBBEAN, March 29.—
The fleet has carried out long range battle practice without an unfortunate incident and the standing of the ships probably will be made known soon.

The reaction in Haiti to the March 17 fleet review by President Borno was excellent, the people feeling that their national dignity had been properly recognized by the appearance of the fleet in Gonaives bay.

Dominican minister Lovatin, at Port Au Prince, U. S. Senator Henrik Shipstead, of Minnesota, and
Col. Harlee, of the marine corps,

Boxer Wins First Round In Battle With Law In L. A.

LOS ANGELES, March 29.—Joe Benjamin, former Pacific coast lightweight champion, won the first round in his battle with the law here today when charges of assault with a deadly weapon were ordered put off calendar.

While the action of Municipal Judge McCoy does not dismiss the charges, disposition of the case will be delayed and all witnesses have been excused from service.

The ruling was made on a motion by counsel for the fighter on the ground of lack of evidence.

FAMILY FEUD STARTS FROM POLITICAL MIX

BERLIN, March 29.—A hot family feud has broken out in one of the most aristocratic and blue blooded families of Germany—the Von Richtofens.

Baron Hartmann von Richtofen, former imperial counsel of legation, has turned Republican and now is a Democratic member of the reichstag. As such he opposed the millions given to the Hohenzollerns under the settlement bill.

From time to time Baron von Richtofen attacks the nobility, especially the land junkers. This has so enraged other members of the Von Richtofen family that they are urging him to renounce his title of baron, which, however, he declines to do, believing that he can make himself more effective by retaining it.

Recently the baron was attacked in an open letter in the Kreuzzeitung, the monarchist organ of the Conservatives, by Baron E. von Richtofen, who accuses Baron Hartmann by his father's memory not to bring such disgrace upon an ancient and honored family as to denounce the royal family through whose favors the Richtofen house rose to fame and power.

France Will Make War Debt Payment

PARIS, March 29.—France will pay on June 15, $10,000,000 on account of her war debt only, not including that contracted for the purchase of American war stocks.

When the Mellon-Berenger agreement of April 29, 1926, has been ratified by the American congress and the French parliament this payment will be deducted from the annuities payable under that agreement. France will continue to make the payments on account of the war stock debt already stipulated.

It is agreed that the arrangement now made shall not in any way prejudice the ratification of the Mellon-Berenger agreement.
The total amount France will pay America this year, including payments on account of the war stock debt, will thus be $30,000,000, the amount of the annuity under the Mellon-Berenger agreement.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—
Congressman Edward H. Wason, of Nashua, N. H., would appreciate your views, if any, on horseshoes.

There hangs in Congressman Wason's office a New Hampshire horseshoe, its ends pointing toward the floor.

The horseshoe seemed to be doing its work in acceptable fashion, bringing Congressman Wason a fair quota of good luck, including re-election for five or six terms, and Congressman Wason was completely satisfied.

Then came certain southern congressmen, at divers times.
Noting the horseshoe, each one launched into learned discourse upon the proprieties of horseshoes.

All agreed that no horseshoe could be a good luck horseshoe unless it were hung with ends pointing upward. Why, Wason couldn't possibly be getting any luck out of the thing.

And some day probably it would slip off and land upon his head.
Wason insisted that he had hung the horseshoe in the good old New Hampshire way and that way it still hangs, but poor Wason, as he grumbles with affairs of state, is sometimes smitten by the haunting fear that maybe those southern fellows knew what they were talking about.

No other servant of the people on Capitol Hill has a sign on the door like that of Congressman Lamar Jeffers, of Anniston, Ala.
"COME IN!" it says, in great big letters, just like that.

Big moments sometimes come into a little man's life, even in Washington. But Senator Henry Wilder Keyes, of New Hampshire, chairman of the generally insignificant committee on audit and control of the contingent expenses of the senate, had to wait until after the close of the sixty-ninth congress for his.

Then Senator Keyes suddenly became prominent—and important —by holding up payment of any more money to Senator Jim Reed's campaign funds investigating committee. Investigation of the congressional record reveals that hardly anything was heard from the senator during the last session except such reports and submissions as were required by his chairmanship.

Tinting Tips

(Copyright 1927)

Here's the secret of giving lingerie, stockings, etc., the most gorgeous tints. All tints are really colors. So use real dyes. Get an envelope of the actual dye powder at any drug store, for fifteen cents. Do your own dyeing, which saves money and gives you the exact shade you want. Diamond dyes do perfectly beautiful tinting—in cold water. A dip, and it's done. And true dyes don't streak! Dye-tinting doesn't look weak, however delicate a tone you use; nor does it wash out unevenly. When you want the tint to be permanent, just use boiling water instead of cold!

Regular dyeing of all dress materials, drapes, etc., just as easy. Ask druggists for color cards and suggestions. Or, a wealth of ideas in full colors, in new book Color Craft free and postpaid; write DIAMOND DYES, Dept. N30, Burlington, Vermont.

FAST DRIVERS ARE FINED IN JUSTICE COURT

Two motorists, arrested in this county over the week-end on charges of reckless driving, were given heavy fines in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today, when they pleaded guilty to the charges.

One of the men, unable to pay the fine, was committed to the Orange county jail.

Robert H. Harms, 29, Los Angeles attorney, who said he lived at Palos Verdes, was fined $125 for reckless driving, following his arrest on the Coast highway by State Officers Sawyer and Craig, Sunday. The officers testified that Harms was driving at an excessive rate of speed and ran several machines off the road.

Gene Sims, a cook, of 427 Lake avenue, Huntington Beach, was given a fine of $250 on a reckless driving charge. He was unable to make the payment and was sent to jail to serve one day for every dollar of the fine.

Sims was arrested on West Seventeenth street by State Traffic Officer Ben Craig.

RULING IS GIVEN ON BRANCH SCHOOLS

Commenting on a recent ruling of Attorney General S. Webb to the effect that branch high schools may be established by an existing high school district, but that such branch high schools will be a component part of the original district and not an independent entity, County Superintendent of Schools R. P. Mitchell today declared that the decision in question has no relation to the proposal to establish and conduct a high school in the Costa Mesa-Newport Beach harbor district.

Whether such a high school is established by a newly formed high school district, and administered by the Santa Ana city high school board, it would, in either case, be considered an independent entity for certain apportionment purposes, Mitchell explained. According to the Webb ruling, apportionment of state money on the basis of average daily attendance at these branch schools must continue to be made to the main district, and not separately to the branch.

MAKE NEW PLANS FOR NEW PROJECT

Advocates and opponents of 55-foot pavement on Eighteenth street, Costa Mesa, each won a partial victory and were mutually satisfied, it was believed today, when the county supervisors abandoned proceedings and made plans to start a new project. The new plans call for paving 50 feet wide for the first block on Eighteenth street off Newport avenue, a distance of 1320 feet. From that point beyond, the paving will be 20 feet wide. Curbs and sidewalks are included in the first block, but not with the 20-foot paving.

This, it was said, would satisfy both factions, since the opponents of wide paving covering property beyond the first block, and did not object to 20-foot paving.

Discussion from both sides of the dispute was heard at today's hearing before the supervisors. Fred Vollmer, one of the opponents, delivered a vigorous speech in which he declared the wide paving project was premature from an economic standpoint.

Hellmans Named As Defendants In $590,000 Action

LOS ANGELES, March 29—Suit for damages aggregating $590,000 filed against Marco Hellman, Irving Hellman, Joe Topitzky and Herman Janss by a committee of bondholders in the San Joaquin Valley Farm Land company is expected to be answered today by the defendants.

According to the complaint, the defendants are alleged to have failed to keep their part of an asserted contract and, as a result the plaintiffs charge that settlers and farmers failed to make payments on bonds under the reorganization plan.

The individual plaintiffs, G. Parker Toms, E. S. Dulin, James A. Clay, L. H. Wright and Charles S. Thomas, further alleged that failure to meet the payments on interest and principal of the bonds damaged them to the amount sought in the suit.

Candidate for City Treasurer

FRIENDS BOOSTING BEISSEL FOR OFFICE

In advocating the election of P. G. Beissel as city treasurer, his friends are declaring that Beissel's business experience and knowledge of civic affairs has particularly fitted him for the position he seeks.

Beissel has been a resident of Santa Ana for many years, practically all of the time in the shoe business. He is president of the Home Mutual Building and Loan association.

AIR CLUB TO MEET WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Suggestions for a program of activities this year will be discussed by members of the Santa Ana Air club, meeting Wednesday evening at the Hotel Finley. B. M. Morthland, commodore, announced today. A prize was recently awarded the member making the most valuable suggestions for the expansion of the club's program and many of these ideas will be considered, Morthland added.

Among the suggestions made were these: annual model plane contest, annual birthday party and banquet, annual picnic, annual air meet in conjunction with World Flight Commemoration meet, get together banquet every three months, publication of news articles in leading aeronautical magazines, book reviews from volumes in club library, new club house, lights on landing field for night flying, national air races in Southern California.

Morthland said that the Santa Ana Air club was now recognized as one of the best in the state and had been afforded recognition by the California Development association, through its department of aeronautics.

Grower Supports Railways Against Freight Rate Cut

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29—Eastern fruit growers and railroads opposing the action of California deciduous fruit growers in seeking a reduction in freight rates on deciduous fruits from California to the east yesterday found an ally in Phil M. Baier, of Visalia, who owns and controls 3500 acres of fruit in Tulare county.

Baier testified at the interstate commerce commission hearings that the grape acreage in California has become so large that even if the railroads shipped free to eastern markets the entire industry would be ruined.

A reduction in freight rates, Baier testified, would harm the industry in that more producers would ship to eastern markets. An increase in rates, he said, would benefit the industry in California, for it would result in a "survival of the fittest" in the grape industry.

Burglars Remove Bottom of Safe

POMONA, March 29—Pomona police turned over the report of a safe burglary in a Pomona business establishment to the sheriff's office today. According to the report, the bottom of the safe was removed and two automobile license certificates were removed. The automobiles also were missing, police said. The identity of the looted establishment was not revealed.

Gilbert Undergoes Mastoid Operation

Calvin Gilbert, 1155 West Eighth street, assistant manager of the Robertson Electric company, was in a serious condition at the Santa Ana Valley hospital today, following a mastoid operation late last night.

Police News

The case of Clarence J. Reese, 30, shipping clerk of Los Angeles, arrested Saturday night on a charge of reckless driving, by Officers Yoder and Aldrich, of the state police, was continued in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today until March 30.

H. B. WOMAN IS ATTACKED WITH OPATE NEEDLE

Robbery is believed to have been the motive for a hypodermic needle attack last night when Mrs. E. F. Prehoda, of 327 Sixth street, Huntington Beach, while she was attending a performance in a Long Beach theater last night.

The needle narrowly missed the jugular vein and penetrated her neck to a depth of one inch, according to the physician who attended Mrs. Prehoda.

At her home in the beach city this morning, Mrs. Prehoda expressed the belief that the attackers were seeking possession of her diamond rings. While waiting at the box office with Mrs. William Ames, also of Huntington Beach, Mrs. Prehoda noticed two men and a woman looking at her jewelry. Later, while sitting in the theater, she felt something strike her neck. She looked around and noticed the trio sitting directly back of her. Thinking that perhaps a fur or a coat had struck her accidentally, she thought nothing of the incident. A short time later, she began to feel faint. She was taken into a waiting room, where it was found that her neck was covered with blood.

Examination by a physician disclosed that a hypodermic needle had been inserted in Mrs. Prehoda's neck. Immediate treatment prevented serious effects from the opiate, it is believed.

Investigation disclosed that the trio occupying the seats back of Mrs. Prehoda and Mrs. Ames had disappeared during the excitement.

The husbands of Mrs. Prehoda and Mrs. Ames were at a lodge session in Long Beach during the attack. Both men are oil workers.

Mrs. Prehoda had practically recovered this morning from the attack.

AGENT ASKS FEE IN DEAL THAT FAILED

A jury was called into Superior Judge Homer G. Ames' court today to determine whether J. E. Gormley was entitled to a commission for a real estate transaction which he arranged, only to see fall through.

Gormley sued Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hoefler, of Garden Grove, for $2250 on account of the deal. He asked $1100 commission for the proposed exchange of the Hoefler orange grove for property of Jeanne King, at Culver City. In addition he demanded $150 for a broker's commission for securing a loan on the Culver City property for the Hoeflers. Lastly, he asked $1000 as damages for Jeanne King, who assigned her claim to him. The Hoeflers claim was based on alleged refusal of the Hoeflers to keep their agreement and make the trade.

The loan mentioned in the case is said to be the crux of the action. The defendants refused to go through with the exchange because, they allege, Gormley failed to secure the $5000 loan he agreed to secure for them, on the terms agreed.

Prisoners Glad As Cook Returns To Former Range

Orange county is again safe for chefs. Such was not the case, however, until Superior Judge Homer G. Ames today signed an order transferring Lawrence Waddell, jail prisoner, from the county road gang to his old station in the jail kitchen.

Waddell, cook at the jail during the months he had been there, got a transfer to the road gang the other day. Immediately a wail went up from the jail. None of the other prisoners could cook. It was a serious situation and growing more so. Sheriff Sam Jernigan scratched his head. Then a bright light struck him.

"Hey you fellows," he said to his deputies. "Go out and arrest me a cook. Pick a good one. We'll get him a long sentence." So the chefs of Santa Ana and neighboring towns were in danger. Judge Ames, however, came to their rescue by ordering Waddell sent back to the kitchen.

Couples Held In Girl Case Freed

Cases against Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Ary and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Russell, all charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor in connection with the alleged furnishing of liquor to a 16 year old girl, were dismissed today in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court on motion of District Attorney Z. B. West Jr. who said he did not deem the evidence strong enough to carry the case to the superior court.

The couples were taken into custody several days ago following the arrest March 20 of A. L. Cady who was with a young girl whom police said was in a drunken condition. Cady has been held to answer to the superior court. G. F. Pinex, who was arrested in connection with the case several days ago, also was discharged.

A new phonographic device enables English police to keep a record of criminals' voices. The inventor claims he can recognize the rhythm even though the criminal tries to change his voice.

Business Women Give Gay March Party in Popular Tea Room

Enthusiastic about last night's party, declared to be the merriest of the year, Business and Professional Women were today, loud in their praises of the March of the mites members for their clever planning, and Mrs. E. S. Chamberlain for the friendly hospitality at the Rose Arbor tea room, which made the merriment possible.

Mrs. Susan Rutherford headed the March committee and had the co-operation of Miss Alice Wassner, Miss May Gurr, Miss Helen Woodworth and Mrs. Olive Lopez. Their plan to make the month's social meeting, a dinner in the recently opened Rose Arbor tea room, met with much approval and nearly the full membership of the club turned out for the event.

Tall candles, low bowls of marigolds and colorful baskets adorned each table, and the dinner menu served included the most toothsome of individual chicken pies, with a variety of vegetables, in addition to soup, salad and sweets courses. The dinner hour was enlivened by singing in which the different rooms joined with zest but not always in complete harmony, and if truth be told, not always the same song.

After dinner, Mrs. Chamberlain saw that the tables were cleared from the two big front rooms, allowing ample space for the impromptu stunts of which Mrs. Rutherford took charge. Some of the stunts were not entirely unplanned for in the matter of weird costumes, and the "B. and P. W. Sympathy Orchestra" program directed by Miss Lulu Ott was one of these. The selections tendered by the orchestra, embraced various of the classics rendered with penny whistles, cymbals, triangles and French harps. This "reducing exercises" also directed by Miss Ott in the character of "Professor Longfellow" and in which the costumes and makeup were quite as amazing as they were amusing.

"The March of the Wooden Soldiers" was executed by a group led by Miss Pearl Nicholson and provided another entertaining stunt, as did the "Bridge Party" engineered by Mrs. Minnie Mayhill and her group. The remainder of the program features were presented by individual members and ranged from a delightful child impersonation by Miss Helene Kubitz through Miss Vanche Plumb's talk on "Wildflower Conservation," and Miss Effie White's funny store experiences, to some of Miss Justine Whitney's inimitable "stories that were actually true."

At the close of the entertainment which thus resulted, a variety of "prizes" (balloons, whistles, bells and French harps) rewarded practically everyone who took part. The club expressed appreciation for the hospitality extended by Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain of the tea room, and for the clever planning of the committee members which resulted in one of the most successful evenings ever enjoyed by the members.

While there were a number of guests at the affair whose names were not obtained, several of them are listed in with the names of the members which follow.

Miss Louise Kaiser, president, Delphine Marcell, Caroline Yoch Barnett, May Beamer, Clara Brucke, Maxine Brightwell, Elva Boyd, Cecelia Cady, Rae Chase, Clara Cook, Ethel Coffman, Helen Curtis, Virginia Craig, Ray House, Clara Cushman, Alice Cole, Susanne Claycomb, Ruby Eckel, Nancy Elder, Eleanor Elliott, Peggy King, Mary Smart, Cecyl Drake, Gallene Finley, Marie Fowler, Loraine French, Helen Gallagher, May Gurr, Mary Hilliard, Helen Mater Jeffrey, Helene Kubitz, Mabel Larwick, Italy Lee, Olive Lopez, Teresa McDonough, Mabel McFadden, Jeanette McFadden, Hannah Marston, Minnie Mayhill, Annelia Meagher, Mildred Deebach, Myrtle Meyer, Laura Murray, Pearl Nicholson, Hazel Northcross, Lulu Ott, Lee Patton, Olive Peeler, Elizabeth Perkins, Elizabeth Phillips, Vanche Plumb, Flora Pritchett, Doris Robbins, Susan Rutherford, Edna Timm, Lena Thomas, Helen Walker, Alice Wassner, Elaine Wharton, Harriett Whidden, Edie White, Justine Whitney, Cora Swind, Emory Van Deusen, Martha Whitson, Mabel Wiseman, Katherine R. Birthday Surprise For Mrs. Jackson

Mrs. Preston Jackson of 1124 West Highland street was greatly surprised last night when a group of friends gathered at her home in honor of her birthday. The surprise had been planned by Mr. Jackson who had suggested that he and his wife attend the theater that night in honor of her birthday. On arriving there it was found that Mr. Jackson's billfold had been left at home so the two returned to find their house ablaze with lights and filled with sounds of merrymaking.

The happy evening was spent in playing cards and dancing and later Mrs. Jackson examined the many gifts she received, chief among which were some beautiful mother-of-pearl articles sent by friends in Manila. Refreshments were served by the guests who had prepared them for the occasion.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hunt of Anaheim, Mr. and Mrs. David Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Salla, Mrs. Howard and Mrs. Lee Post.

The Jacksons moved here only recently from San Diego. Principal crops grown in the United States during 1926 reached a total farm value of $7,802,114,000 as compared with $8,949,312,000 in 1925.

Family Dinner Party Marks Birthday in Warner Home

A delightful little family dinner last evening marked the birthday anniversary of Ben H. Warner, Mrs. Warner having decked the pretty home at 124 West Eighth street with a profusion of ranunculus and other delicate spring blossoms in honor of the occasion.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Warner and their children, covers were placed at the prettily-appointed table for Mr. Warner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Warner, his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Len Warner, and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. Simon Fluor Jr.

Ranunculus in a dainty bowl centered the table and green nut cups were used. The lovely birthday cake added the general effect, and its candles were extinguished with the usual ceremony. Mr. Warner was presented with a number of appreciated gifts.

The evening was whiled away listening in on the radio and in social chat.

Catalina Trip Ends In Surprise Party

In order to carry out their plan to surprise their friend, Mrs. Bertha Heiman of Los Angeles, whose birthday occurred last Saturday, Mrs. Mary P. Matthews took Mrs. Heiman on a trip to Catalina island, while her sister, Mrs. Guy Gardner, prepared the Matthews home at 1605 East Fourth street for the happy event.

Mrs. Gardner had decked the home with a profusion of flowers, using gladioli in the living rooms and fragrant sweet peas in the den. The guests were waiting in the darkened rooms when Mrs. Heiman opened the door, while Mrs. Matthews placed her car in the garage. The surprise was complete, but Mrs. Heiman soon recovered and was showered with birthday felicitations.

Tables for bridge were in place and at the close of the games, Mrs. Carl Thrasher was presented with a pair of sheer silk hose, Mrs. James Daniels a dainty handkerchief, while H. Moberly captured a fountain pen and Ray Bunch an angel food cake.

The guest award, a beautiful basket filled with delicate spring blossoms, was presented to Mrs. Heiman, who found attached to the receptacle, a beautiful birthday card from each guest.

A perfect Easter scene had been accomplished in the dining room, where appetizing refreshments were served, the guests finding their places by means of cards held in the beaks of fluffy baby chicks. The festive board was centered with a motherly old hen sitting upon brightly colored Easter eggs.

Seated about the table were Mrs. Heiman, Mrs. Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. H. Moberly and Mr. and Mrs. Sim Higgins of Orange, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thrasher, Mr. and Mrs. James Daniels, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bunch of Santa Ana, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ducommun and Alfred Ducommun of Los Angeles and Frank Allen of Hollywood.

Worth While Club Is Entertained
Mrs. James Sullivan used many flowers to make her home at 1908 West Seventeenth street, an attractive setting for members of the Worth While club when they met with her late last week.

A short business meeting was conducted after which the afternoon hours were given over to conversation and a lively series of games in which Mrs. Josephine Woolley took first prize and Mrs. Bertha Hurt took consolation. Mrs. Sullivan served refreshments as the final pleasant feature of her hospitality.

Those present included Mesdames Iva Hazard, Eva Hicks, Wintersburg; Rose Miller, Los Angeles; Lillis Burnett, Minnie Potts, Josephine Woolley, Alvira Atkinson, Jean Jenkins and Bertha Hurt, Huntington Beach; Fern Harvey, Mary Alice Harvey, Garden Grove and Master Bobbie Hazard, Wintersburg.

POET OF THE WILDERNESS DELIGHTS EBELL AUDIENCE

"Lew Sarett is an interesting character, as virile and winning and interesting as the wild life from which he comes," declares the little folder which Santa Ana Ebell members cherish as a tangible memento of the program which they heard yesterday afternoon in their auditorium. But more wonderful by far than any leaflet describing a lecturer or entertainer, are the memories which they will always cherish of a woodsman-poet who held them entranced with his poems, his impersonations, but best of all, with his philosophies.

For Lew Sarett expounds his philosophies in so convincing a manner, that one hearing him, knows instinctively that they are the guiding principles of his life, and that what he expounds, is exactly what he lives. Life is very real to Lew Sarett, but his realism as he carefully explained, is not the type that chooses the biased character of a sour misanthrope in a little Indiana village, and declares it to be typical of a nation. Rather his is the realism that seeks the actual beauty in every human being and in every phase of nature. His is a creed of love and understanding of nature, and in expounding it yesterday afternoon, he led an enthralled audience into the very heart of the timber country.

He made them familiar with the wild life of the mountains, the forests; he painted sunsets, lonely mountain lakes, Indian characters, couriers de bois, wilderness trails, all with the magic of words.

Music, Indian tribal dances, bird songs, the animals of the wilderness, French-Canadian lumberjacks, all were visualized and dramatized for the entertainment and education of the audience. The speaker rose to truly dramatic heights in his monologue work, one of the most interesting features of the afternoon being the dramatic little picture given of a northern Indian appearing as spokesman for his tribe, before the factor. The patois of the Indian, the peculiar idioms employed, the dramatic appeal for justice, all were interesting phases of the dramatic sketch.

The little readings of French-Canadian dialect were especially delightful, and all bore flashes of rare humor, heightened by the dramatic impersonations. But it was perhaps in giving his own poems that the speaker most stirred his audience.

To hear Lew Sarett read "God Let Me Flower as I Will," or "God Is at the Anvil," or "Wind in the Pines," is like a renewal of faith. He believes so implicitly and "as he believeth in his heart, so is he." With him, his audience sees the "sublimity of Creative Genius, the imminent presence of a Great Spirit."

A description of a mountain-guarded lake in the wilds, was a moving thing. In presenting it, the speaker described the location so eloquently that the picture was firmly fixed in the minds of his audience, as the setting for the wild life which he then proceeded to exemplify.

They were all there, those denizens of the forest. Red squirrels chattered their disapproval of the invaders of their domain; oblivious grouse drummed away, oblivious to the intruders; a she-bear with her cubs, ambled into view, the mother intent upon securing the blackberries that hung in rich clusters, yet always keeping a watchful eye on the cubs.

White-tailed deer were disturbed, and after "freezing" into absolute stillness for an instant, went bounding away, wig-wagging their snowy tails as they leaped. A bull-moose, seeking relief from deer-flies, took his ungainly, school-boy way to the lake and breathed a gusty relief as he immersed himself in the water. An owl signalled from the tall spruce tree. All blended into the Wilderness Symphony through the art of one man.

It was a happy inspiration on the part of some one Ebell committee, to bank the stage with boughs of aromatic eucalyptus for this expounder of nature and nature's God.

LEW SARETT, WHOSE LECTURE-RECITAL GIVEN YESTERDAY AFTERNOON BEFORE MEMBERS AND GUESTS OF SANTA ANA EBELL SOCIETY, PROVED TO BE ONE OF THE MOST ENTERTAINING AND VALUABLE EVENTS OF THE CLUB YEAR.

ture's God . . . It impressed him and in turn heightened the effect of his message. In all, it was one of the most pleasurable as well as one of the most valuable programs in Ebell history.

The speaker was preceded by a brief business discussion in which emphasis was placed upon the fact that members will become delinquent if dues are not paid at once. Yesterday's program was the last one at which present membership cards will be honored, so those who have not paid their dues prior to the next meeting date, will not be admitted.

Attention was called to progress of plans for the annual spring market to be held April 21 and 22, with Mrs. E. M. Nealley and Mrs. Cood Adams at the head of general arrangements. Pies, made for bulbs, plants and seedlings, for canned and fresh fruits and kindred articles for the "country store" to be featured, and for donations of every kind. Mrs. N. H. Hilton also spoke of the "Garden Beautiful contest" and urged co-operation in the plan.

Few men living today have personal recollections of professional baseball running as far back as those of George Wright, veteran Boston sporting goods manufacturer. Fifty-eight years ago, or seven years before the National league came into existence, Wright was playing shortstop for the old Cincinnati Red Stockings.

Sorority Sisters Hold Enjoyable Breakfast At St. Ann's

College associations were renewed in happy fashion for a group of Lambda Omicron sorority sisters of Broad Oaks school, Pasadena, when they met Sunday at St. Ann's Inn for a delightful breakfast.

The early hour of 8:30 o'clock was chosen in order to give them a long morning in which to enjoy their reunion. Breakfast tables were very inviting with a sweet pea motif expressed in masses of those fragrant blossoms in pink and orchid tints, and in dainty place cards adorned with studies of the flower.

Enjoyment of the breakfast menu was punctuated with singing, when old college and sorority songs were offered with spirit. One of the enjoyable impromptu features which followed the breakfast hour, was the posing for pictures out in the wide galleries of the Inn, with Manager Robert L. Bisby in the midst of the merry Lambda Omicron sisters.

The group included Miss Boyd Joplin of this city, Miss Dorothy Smith, Miss Marjorie Russell and Miss Vera M. Varney, Long Beach; Miss Elizabeth Hunt, Miss Marie Mulcher, Miss Kate Moore, Miss Mildred Waldron, Pasadena; Miss Margaret Darrow, South Pasadena; Mrs. R. W. Ashbrook, Riverside; Miss Marjorie Adams, Arcadia; Miss Gertrude Warren, Los Angeles; Miss Millicent Merry Clark, Glendora; Miss Doris M. Stewart, Covina; Miss Wilma Gos, San Gabriel; Miss Eno Williams, Palo Verde; Miss Mildred Freeman, San Barbara; Miss Helene Steadon, San Diego; Miss Theone Noyes, Orville, Ohio, and Miss Pamela Farquhar, Vancouver, B. C., Canada.

Small Dinner Party Given at Inn

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Egge were dinner hosts at St. Ann's Inn last Friday night, planning their hospitality so that they and their guests might later enjoy the dancing which is a Friday night feature at the Inn.

Delicately hued sweet peas vied with tall tapers in making the table an attractive picture for the diners. Places were indicated for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Egge, Dr. and Mrs. John I. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Rutan, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Liebig, and Mr. and Mrs. George W. Perkins.

COMMITTEEMEN WORK HARD ON NEW MEASURES

SACRAMENTO, March 29.—With Governor Young's $194,000,000 budget adopted by the assembly and before the senate for final action, legislative committees are burning the midnight oil to keep pace with the fast work of the two houses in passing on measures.

Late last night, two heavy-eyed committees approved two of the most important and most hotly contested measures on the legislative calendar.

They were: Cloudman bill, permitting the resumption of hydraulic mining in California; H. C. Jones bill, making it a felony to own a still and a subject of prison sentence of from one to five years.

The mining measure was fought out before the biggest audience at any committee meeting of the session. The proposal, by Assemblyman Harold C. Cloudman, of Berkeley, asked an appropriation of $300,000 for the California debris commission to purchase dams to restrain the fine sand, which opponents of the bill insisted would ruin the farms of Sacramento valley.

Cut Down Appropriation
Before approving the bill, the assembly ways and means committee reduced the appropriation to $200,000.

A special train from Marysville brought Sutter and Yuba county opponents of the hydraulic mining bill to Sacramento and with fully as large a delegation of miners present to support their speakers the assembly chamber was filled to capacity during the hearing of the measure.

Assemblyman Cloudman explained that of the $200,000 appropriation $50,000 would be spent in surveys of the six dam sites and the other $150,000 would go toward their purchase. The federal government will then do the rest, he said, building the dams and retaining ownership of them and the power rights.

The assembly ways and means also passed out the bills providing increases in judges' salaries. The bills would increase the salary of the presiding justice of district courts of appeals from $8,000 to $14,150, and associate judges from $8,000 to $14,000.

The salary of the chief justice of the supreme court would be increased from $10,000 to $15,000 and associate judges from $10,000 to $15,000.

The "still bill," by Senator H. C. Jones, had already passed the upper house, and was adopted after a stormy session by the assembly committee on judiciary last night. Several amendments to the penalty, which was held to be too stiff, were voted down by the committee.

Habitual criminals are defined as persons committing a felony three times, and for their last offense they will automatically receive a sentence of life imprisonment, under the terms of a measure by C. C. Baker, of Salinas, adopted in the senate yesterday.

The measure passed by an overwhelming vote, although Senator T. C. West, of Alameda, warned the senate that "it would be a cowardly thing for the state to do."

Because all bills carrying appropriations must await passage of the executive budget, several measures passed by both houses must be re-introduced, it was revealed yesterday and a grand rush was made upon the popular few legislators who have not introduced their quota of two bills each this session.

Among the bills which must be re-introduced are those creating a state board of barber examiners and a state board of cosmetology to regulate hair dressers and beauty parlors.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. McVay have ordered their Register sent to them at Elsinore, where they are sojourning for a time.

E. R. Roehm of the Roehm-Sylvester company, has traded his home at 2027 Greenleaf street for the Art Lindsay property at Tus-tin, and he and Mrs. Roehm and family are making their home there, while Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay have taken possession of the Roehm home. Mr. Lindsay is the proprietor of the Lindsay shop for boys on West Fourth street.

W. D. Baker of Baker's bakery left last Wednesday for a business and pleasure trip to Limon-cito, Sinaloa, Mexico, to be gone three or four weeks. Mr. Baker has ranch interests in the southern country. Guests of Mrs. Baker over the week-end were her daughter, Miss Marian Hickman, the latter's fiancé, Harold Bowen of Los Angeles and Miss Elizabeth Yoder of the faculty at U. S. C. The party spent Saturday and Sunday at the Baker cabin at Modjeska's, the road having been repaired.

Mrs. J. E. Gowen, Mrs. S. M. Davis and Mrs. W. H. Harrison have issued invitation for a bridge luncheon to be held next Saturday at the Gowen home.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Into the jaws of death sails Senator Hiram K. Bingham, the bravest man in the senate.

Blithely he left us and, assuming that he escapes alive, he will return with the same unruffled mien which he has somehow always managed to retain in those more or less august precincts of the upper house.

Even as the cables provided the final figures on the death toll of the latest Japanese earthquake, Senator Bingham was headed for the land of Nippon.

As the Chinese war grows hotter Senator Bingham is also on his way toward Shanghai by way of Peking.

And if the earthquakes or the coolies don't get him, the Moro head hunters will have their chance, for the senator subsequently plans to spend three weeks in the Philippines.

We who have been privileged to observe Senator Bingham in action—if his calm, measured movements and utterances may be called action—can easily visualize the scene in case he meets grave menace from any of the sources of peril which lie along his path.

Should an earthquake begin to swallow him up in the terrestrial bowels, it is doubtful whether even a scowl of displeasure would be permitted to darken his shining countenance. If he made any effort to escape, there certainly would be nothing undignified about it. He might, indeed, speak. Judging from past performances under fire, he probably would address himself to Jehovah—or perhaps the native deity, Buddha, for Senator Bingham was never impolite—somewhat as follows:

"My Dear Sir, the sovereign state of Connecticut seems about to be deprived of an able and conscientious representative. A fairly good constitutional lawyer, an authority on the Spanish language and the Latin-American countries, the Monroe doctrine and commercial aviation, seems to be slipping into goodness knows what. It allowed to proceed on this contemplated journey he would return to his country an expert on the Chinese situation, the Japanese situation and upon the military and territorial affairs of the Philippines and Hawaii—and earthquakes. My Dear Sir, in the light of these facts, I suggest that you think it over."

Even if he knew things were happening so rapidly that he couldn't finish a third of this speech, Senator Bingham would not speed up nor slur his words. This would be no excited prayer for succor.

And in the face of a Chinese firing squad or a murderous tribesman, Senator Bingham would say virtually the same thing in exactly the same manner. That's Bingham.

Tall, spare, white-haired and possessed of the most scholarly appearance in congress, he goes through life with the attitude of a pedagogue who knows that no smart student is ever going to trip him up.

It is thus that he speaks to the senate in a colorless monotone which never deviates in pitch. It is said that he can empty the galleries more rapidly than almost anyone else—he never plays to them. Generally, too, he arises in the wake of a powerful speech by someone like Borah or Reed and the contrast is too much for the sensation-seeking crowds.

He is brave because he has stood up against all kinds of verbal abuse from his more oratorical opponents. Under blasts that would make some senators turn tail and run, he waits patiently and then replies—patiently—for all the world like a prep school instructor, conscientiously explaining a simple problem to the worst dumbbell in the class. Nobody ever gets under his skin. Nobody can ever arouse him to hot retort.

His somewhat unfortunate appointment of himself to act as the administration needed one very badly—during the first debate on the Nicaraguan situation—was an excellent sample of how well Bingham stands the strain. And as for nerve, no one could have matched him when he had to explain, patiently, that he had been mistaken when he wrote a book called "The Monroe Doctrine, an Obsolete Shibboleth."

It is with conscientious scholarly determination that Bingham sails out into the Pacific. As a senator, he wants to know more about the Chinese situation and about Japan. As a scholar, he wants to consider the various temples, the Chinese wall and what-not. As a member of both the senate's military affairs committee and territorial and insular affairs committee, he desires to study the aviation fields, military posts and territorial governments of Hawaii and the Philippines.

In these two possessions he will spend most of his stationary time from May 12 to June 3 in the Philippines and from June 24 to July 8 in Hawaii. He will be back in San Francisco on July 14 and information on the fruits of his tour will be available during the seventh congress.

Disappearance of Explorer Puzzling

SAN DIEGO, March 29.—Mystery of the whereabouts of William Cherry, explorer reported drowned off Mexico from a liner that docked at San Diego from Panama, has increased with the Panama-Pacific line and other steamship agencies here reporting that no passenger by the name of Cherry had embarked on any of their inter-coastal ships during recent voyages.

More furs are worn in the United States than in any other country in the world.

ASSEMBLY BILL GETS APPROVAL OF EDUCATORS

R. F. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools, and J. A. Cranston, city superintendent of the Santa Ana schools, today voiced their approval of Assembly Bill No. 164, introduced by Dr. C. D. Ball, assemblyman from this district, which authorizes the employment of certificated elementary and high school teachers in juvenile homes, and makes provision for their payment.

According to advices received here from Sacramento this bill has passed both the assembly and the senate, and is now before the governor for his signature. In addition to carrying the approval of educators and school executives, it has the endorsement of the juvenile authorities including judges, district attorneys and probation officers.

In addition to authorizing the employment of certificated teachers at rates obtaining in the public schools, the Ball measure will relieve school districts in which detention homes are located of the unjust burden of providing teachers for such county institutions. To that end, the bill authorizes the board of supervisors to transfer general county funds to the current expense fund of such school district; such transfer to cover the excess of amount of money received from state and county school funds as are necessary for the proper maintenance and operation of schools in detention homes.

The measure, when enacted into law, it was explained by County Superintendent Mitchell will relieve the Santa Ana city school district of the burden of providing education for juveniles who come from other parts of the county.

Indication that the measure is receiving serious attention at the hands of the state school authorities is a telegram received this morning from William J. Cooper, state superintendent of public instruction, inviting attention to the provisions of the Ball bill, asking for the opinion of the county and the city superintendents. He also desired to know the number of pupils kept at the home and the extent of the present educational facilities. In this connection, it was learned that at present there are 18 boys and 12 girls confined at the home.

The Shortening

Your Grandmother Used

ONE of the joys of cooking is the pure, wholesome lard which gives you just the right results in the kitchen for your shortening. It has been one of the housewife's stand-bys for many years. Your grandmother probably made her own lard, but today the housewife can buy it in convenient-sized cartons, tins, or in bulk at the retail meat store.

Lard comes from the fat of the hog and is prepared with great care. There is no doubt that it adds flavor to the foods you fry and makes them more delicious.

Sun-Maid's world trade brings investors an unusual opportunity

IN SWEDEN they ask for Sun-Maid raisins
NORWAY: Sun-Maid Rosinerne
FINLAND: Sun-Maid Rusinat
DENMARK: Sun-Maid Rosiner
HOLLAND: Sun-Maid Rozijnen
MEXICO: Pasas Sun-Maid
JAPAN: 乾葡萄 女天
ENGLAND: Sun-Maid Raisins

TO have its products in demand at nine out of ten grocery stores throughout this country is an achievement which Sun-Maid shares with only one or two other great businesses.

But even more notable is Sun-Maid's accomplishment in foreign markets.

In Scandinavian countries, for instance, the Sun-Maid product—principally in cartons—has in little more than two years crowded out the traditional Smyrna raisins. Consistent gains have been made in Denmark, Holland and other countries.

In the British market where Smyrna and Australia have battled for business with alternate gains and losses, Sun-Maid market for Sun-Maid's distinctive Puffed Muscats has been found.

Selling in steadily increasing volume in every important raisin market, Sun-Maid has definitely placed California as the raisin center of the world and established its own brand as the standard of value in world trade.

The result of constructive, continued effort; the fruition of plans well laid and strategically carried out, Sun-Maid's established position today is probably not generally known to those who have not kept in touch with Sun-Maid development. The facts disclose an unusual opportunity for investors.

PEDESTRIAN IS BADLY INJURED BY AUTOMOBILE

Run down by an automobile at the intersection of South Main and Bishop streets at 7 o'clock last night, J. A. McDowell, 69, 502 West Fourth street, is in the Santa Ana Valley hospital, suffering from a badly fractured left hip and cuts and bruises.

Police arrested the driver of the machine, Joe Martinez, 903 East First street, and are holding him in the county jail on a charge of reckless driving.

The accident was said by officers to have occurred when McDowell was struck while walking within the pedestrian lines, across the street. Martinez did not have an operator's license when arrested by Officers Perry and Swain, these officers reported.

The condition of the injured man was reported improved today, following a restful night, according to nurses at the hospital. Martinez will probably be given a hearing in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this afternoon or tomorrow, it was said.

W. A. Huscroft, of Orange, yesterday won a decision in superior court, requiring D. Baden, of Orange, to exchange property in the Thermalita tract, Orange, for two houses and a lot belonging to Huscroft, at 253 North Harwood street, Orange. The court order also required Baden to pay Huscroft $1500 in cash.

Huscroft, in a suit filed against Baden, alleged that Baden agreed to make such a deal and later refused to abide by his agreement. The case was tried before Judge Homer G. Ames.

Attorneys Van Law and Van Law represented the plaintiff Attorney Marry L. Dearing appearing for the defense.

YOUTH ADMITS TIRE THEFT TO BUY GASOLINE

That the theft of at least 10 automobile tires, spotlights and other automobile accessories have been cleared up, was expressed by City Marshal Claude Rogers today, with the arrest Sunday of H. W. Shields, 19, Santa Ana, who is said to have confessed to several petty thefts.

In police court yesterday afternoon, the youth admitted that he had taken tires, and entered a plea of guilty to a petty larceny charge. He was given a 30 day suspended jail sentence and his machine was taken away from him when he told Judge Talbot that he committed the thefts to buy gasoline for his automobile.

Shields' arrest for the tire thefts was made accidentally. He was stopped by officers on a speeding charge and had a stolen tire in his car at the time. Officers lodged him in jail for investigation. Soon afterwards the tire was identified as stolen and the owner recovered it. Then officers filed the petty larceny charge.

Shields' uncle was in court with the boy and told Judge Talbot that he agreed that the youth should not have the automobile.

Say Women Will Be Influenced By Barber Talk

PARIS, March 29.—Barbers' influence over women is worrying some Paris parlor philosophers. Bobbed hair is to blame. Thousands of women who never before went to a hairdresser now are regular customers.

There are exclusive salons de coiffure for the few, but the ordinary woman or girl goes to the barber shop to have her hair trimmed. Barbers have the reputation of being talkative. They suggest tips on the races to men. They do not seem adverse, say the French critics, to extending the range of their conversation now that they have a new class of customers whose tastes and topics are different.

Bicycle Use Is Widespread In Foreign Lands

COPENHAGEN, March 29.—Bicycles move in good society in Denmark. The king and all the younger members of the royal family as well as leaders in all walks of life use a wheel. The same is true in Holland and in the flat sections of Belgium and North Prussia. Good roads and easy grades make a bicycle the easiest means of getting about on short trips. Princess Juliana of Holland is a keen cyclist, and the Dutch Queen Wilhelmina has often been seen pedaling herself about her country home near Apeldoorn. All over Denmark and Holland women in their best gowns bicycle to teas and evening parties. Since short skirts have become a fashionable society women find no difficulty in using wheels without danger to their gowns. Churches, theaters and shops must provide parking space for wheels, as men, women and children go everywhere on bicycles.

'JAYWALKERS' IN PARIS FACE FINE

PARIS, March 29.—It costs a pedestrian four cents to cross a Paris street outside the traffic lanes. This is not a toll charge, but the minimum police fine, now authorized by the Court of Cassation, in a recent decision that stripped the jaywalker of what he thought were his rights.

Safety zones were resented in Paris and old-fashioned citizens twice took cases to the highest court when arrested for cutting across streets outside the dotted lines.

Four cents isn't much, but the public arrest, trip to the police station, appearance in court and the expense of an attorney are the real penalties.

What really distresses the old-timers is the passing of the "flâneur," the saunterer who strolled the streets, stopping to watch anything that interested him, chatting with friends, interrupting his walk with a session at the "terrasse," the section of the broad sidewalk rented by cafes for their outdoor tables.

BREA

BREA, March 29.—Brea men on whom was recently conferred the Master Mason degree were Paul Lehr, of the Shell Oil company; Frank Mason, commander of the Brea American Legion post, and Herbert Marcy, an employee of the Union Oil company. Exemplification of the degree was made at Fullerton lodge, No. 339, with an all-Union Oil company drill team putting on the work.

After a short visit with his old friend, J. E. Collins, manager of the Brown-Dauser Lumber company, Albert Selva, musical concert member, left Saturday for Los Angeles and will shortly join his company in the northwest. The friendship of these men dates back to the days of the Klondike gold rush.

George Charlton, who closed his blacksmith shop on North Laurel some months ago to take up work in the oil fields nearby, has again resumed work in his shop at the same location.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Kinsler spent the week-end in Long Beach, where they visited with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. "Doc" Henderson and became acquainted with their infant grandson, who arrived in the Henderson home a few days ago.

Mrs. L. A. Will and son, George, motored Sunday, to Los Angeles, where they went to visit the specialist who is treating George for foot ailments that have been troubling him for some time.

Mrs. C. C. Jarvis, who for the past several months has been living in the desert where she has been nursing her son, Bert Phegley, back to health, returned to her home here this week. Mrs. Jarvis reports Bert much improved though it will be necessary for him to remain in the desert for some time yet. During their stay there they had been residing at a

Ken Maynard and Tom Santschi in a scene from "The Overland Stage," current attraction at the Yost Broadway.

WEST COAST WALKER

"Flesh and the Devil," current attraction at the West Coast-Walker theater, is the first German picture made in America. It has all the settings of Europe; all the technique of the old world; it is a drama from one of Europe's mightiest dramatists; and still it was directed by Clarence Brown, American, at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, in America—and with John Gilbert, American hero of "The Big Parade," in the leading role.

"Flesh and the Devil" is Sudermann's great drama, "The Dying Swan," adapted from the original; filmed in settings so true to life that no better could have been found in Germany itself. It is an intimate story of the German people; of the old world traditions of love and marriage; a great thundering drama of human hearts, and, outside of its interesting qualities of combining European and American screen technique, is one of the most glorious pieces of entertainment in many moons.

John Gilbert and Greta Garbo, the brilliant Swedish screen star, play hero and heroine.

and to the apartments in the rear of the lot. In addition to the walks, Mr. Lee is planting much shrubbery and many ferns and flowers and the result is a beautiful yard.

At the last meeting of the city council of Brea, W. E. Atkins was made deputy marshal for the city and will also assist as fire engineer. Mr. Atkins has been serving the city in this capacity for some time in an unofficial status.

Reports that Margery Godfrey had broken her right ankle while doing the high jump at the local high school have been corrected to say that the ankle sustained torn ligaments. Miss Godfrey is now on crutches, although continuing her school studies.

Mrs. Frank Brown, a former resident of Brea but now living at Anaheim, surprised her husband recently by inviting members of the family and close friends to their home for a 6 o'clock dinner. The honoree received several nice gifts in observance of the anniversary of his birthday. Mrs. Brown will be remembered here as Mrs. Myrtle Ritter, daughter of M. and Mrs. Hyde, of North Macedonia.

Mrs. Frank Throop is said to be able to walk after several days of being confined to her room following her stepping on a rusty nail.

Contractor H. M. Massey reports the W. D. Casner apartments and store building at the southeast corner of Orange and Birch rapidly nearing completion. The Massey home on South Randolph is also nearly completed as is that of Jake Classen on the same street, the latter having raised his house and added two rooms and porches.

Mrs. Sol Owens, formerly a resident of Brea but now living at Elsinore, was in Brea Sunday with her son Bobby and daughter, Buena. They appeared at the church of the Full Gospel assembly on Sunday morning, where Mrs. Owens lectured from Bible charts of her own design and where she and her son and daughter sang several evangelical selections. Miss Etta Lee, evangelist from Oklahoma, also appeared on the Sunday morning program at this church.

SHORT TALKS BY THOUGHTFUL MOTHERS

A Louisiana (New Orleans) Mother speaks: "Our child had a cough that almost strangled her. A kind neighbor brought in her bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and in a very short time it eased the dreadful paroxysms of coughing and made her comfortable. I recommend it as a valuable medicine, one that is free from opiates." Foley's Honey and Tar Compound checks croup, is invaluable for whooping cough, measles cough, and the heavy wheezy breathing that accompanies many children's diseases. FEAR REINDEER IS MENACE IN ALASKA

NOME, Alaska, March 29.—Reindeer, originally introduced into Northern Alaska to ward off starvation of the Eskimo, today presents a problem which is commanding serious attention of government officials and private citizens alike.

The herd of 1200 imported into the territory in the 10 years prior to 1902 has multiplied so rapidly that it is estimated more than a half million are roaming the northern tundra. On the present basis of increase, within 10 years it is estimated 5,000,000, the maximum that can be grazed successfully, say government experts.

The problem of what to do with the multiplying herds is one for which no satisfactory solution has yet been found.

Marketing the meat in the states has been undertaken, but difficulty has been encountered in popularizing it as a food. Not that it is less palatable than beef or other meat, those interested assert, but the housewives are slow to try a hitherto unknown commodity.

Reindeer breeding began in Alaska in 1891. The coming of the white man and his more efficient methods of catching salmon and whale had largely deprived the natives of their principal source of food. Stories of the plight of the slowly starving Eskimo reached the states and, with the aid of eastern newspapers, about $2500 was subscribed to bring reindeer in from Siberia.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

One of the screen's great gifts to the public is the history lessons contained in such pictures as "The Overland Stage," the picture opening tonight at the Yost Broadway theater.

This impressive production shows one of the really great events in the conquest of America; the linking of the stagecoach lines from east to west. The celebration of this historic event was recently reproduced on a massive scale at the site of its occurrence, Deadwood, S. D., and the Ken Maynard company journeyed there to film it as part of their epic.

Although this picture is the first to deal in any large way with the epic of the transcontinental stagecoach, the picture which deals romantically with historical events is frequently seen, and, when well done, is always among the most popular screen offerings.

NEWS OF LOCAL SCHOOLS

JULIA LATHROP

The following girls who constitute the girls' baseball team are to be congratulated on their victory in a recent game with Garden Grove when Lathrop won, 14 to 4: Marguerite Brown, Marietta Limbough, Mary Dubois, Mariana Cummings, Mildred Foster, Katharine Harbert, Mildred Howard, Wanda Gilbert, Lucetta Gillin, Elsie Starck and Edna Laughlin. Wednesday the Junior team will play Anaheim.

During the past week the girls of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades have been most fortunate in having Miss Helen McPeak, Girl Reserve secretary, speak on topics of special interest to girls of the junior high school.

Some very interesting booklets have been made by Miss Pearl Nicholson's geography classes showing the development of various industries as rubber and coffee. There have been on display in one of the exhibit cases in the rotunda.

Last Thursday the ladies of the Lathrop P. T. A. held a candy and food sale in the rotunda. The proceeds, which amounted to about $23 will be used toward the playground and extension funds of which the P. T. A. is sponsor.

The Lathrop Line Up is very proud to publish a list of its exchanges which now number fourteen and which include papers from junior high schools in Texas and Ohio as well as those from various parts of California.

W.C.T.U. Contestants
From among a collection of splendid essays those belonging to the following students have been chosen to represent Lathrop in the W.C.T.U. contest: Seventh grade—Melba Meserve, Frank Lansdowne, Pam Bean, Betty Thompson, Le Ora Hatch; eighth grade—Theresa Ruiz, Evelyn Fairley, Lois Wiman, Vivian Rogers and Lois Noble; ninth grade—Florence Resnick, Grace Thompson, Andrew Mahr, Arthur Casey and Yvonne Volk.

At a special assembly Wednesday Lathrop students were entertained by stories and adventures from the experiences of "Whale Oil Gus" who told of his life as a whaler and a seafaring man.

English classes and English teachers are interested in the annual county forensic contest which takes place in the near future. Lathrop's English students have been choosing, through a process of elimination one student who will compete with a student from Willard to represent Santa Ana Junior High schools in this contest. The assignment this year for the ninth grade is a reading from Dickens' Christmas Carol.

General Language Class
Those who have been following with interest the progress of the general language class under Miss Hart will be glad to know that it is proving to be a great success. The class has now started the study of Latin, observing in their study, how people of another country express themselves. Original meanings from roots have promoted a great deal of interest among the students. The origin of the word "villain" which meant farmer and lists of English words from Latin as "aqua familia" and "serva" is only a part of the work done in this new course.

Members of the Lathrop faculty extend their body with extend their sincere sympathy to Miss Birdina Anderson who has been absent from school because of the death of her father.

Poster Contest
The Woman's auxiliary of the American Legion is sponsoring another poster contest between the two junior high schools for the purpose of advertising Poppy day. Each year the auxiliary sells paper poppies to raise funds to aid soldiers, sailors, and nurses, injured in the World War. This activity is nation-wide. Poppy day comes this year on May 29, but the poster contest closes May 21.

Last year Lathrop took first prize with a poster made by Dorothy Wandell. They also received a number of honorable mentions and hope to do as well this year. The work is in charge of Mrs. Smith of the art department.

ROOSEVELT

Art Lessons
The upper grade classes have been experimenting in flowers known and unknown. Several new species have been uncovered in the last week. Colored paper formed the fertile soil for the experimenting. Many of the old fashioned garden variety have been used to good advantage, their brilliant colors, fine shading and delicate edges have been reproduced with quite a skill of fingers. Miss Walker's room is a real garden of flowers made by human hands.

Blue Prints
All the children in Miss Camblin's nature study classes made blue prints of flowers on Tuesday of last week. Each child brought four clothes pins from home to hold the glass and cardboard together. Some of the boys and girls had brought boxes before the cardboard. The children were very proud of their pictures and can hardly wait until the time comes when they may take them home to keep.

P. T. A. Concert
Seventy-five children went to the Grace Woods Jess concert sponsored by the P. T. A. This made $7.50 for the school to be used for music materials.

Thursday Mrs. Moore sent over a bag of home-made cookies for the teachers, who enjoyed them very much.

The two baseball teams, "California Yankees" and the "California Bears" played a series of four games at noon under the supervision of Miss Grant. On Thursday the "California Bears" because they had lost, the most games, gave the other team a party after school in the kindergarten room. After a happy hour spent in games, refreshments of candy, cake and ice cream were served by Mrs. Gaebbe, Mrs. Beall and Mrs. Wolter. The boys on the two teams were: "California Yankees"—Paul Wolfvine, Robert Forney, Willie Gardner, Robert Holt, Robert Sunstrom, Edward Baker and Vern Parsons.

Annual Track Meet
On Friday the annual track meet of the Roosevelt school took place. Miss Lindsay, physical training teacher, arranged the affair. All the children in the upper grades were put in four groups according to ages. Tryouts in all the events were held during the week and six for each event were chosen from each group to enter the track meet. Each teacher had charge of one event.

As a final number the special races were run and all the children watched this amusing event. It consisted of a sack race, potato race, knot-tying relay, hoop race, bran bag relay, and kiddie car race by the little people.

SPURGEON

Vegetable Party
On Friday, March 18, at noon, the low fifth grade had a vegetable party. Miss Clara Blesener had it to show the students how nicely vegetables could be used. A vegetable salad of cabbage, grated carrots, peas, celery, beets and tomatoes was served on a lettuce leaf. There were raw vegetables with the exception of beets and peas. Raw vegetables have more vitamins than cooked vegetables. There were sandwiches of cheese and brown bread, and peanut butter and raisin brown bread. Each child had a half pint of milk and a dish of tapioca pudding.

Five mothers prepared and served the lunch. It was a very good lunch and all enjoyed it.

PARENT TEACHERS

Franklin
The Franklin P. T. A. met Tuesday afternoon, March 15, in the kindergarten room, with a large crowd in attendance. The meeting was opened when several members from the school orchestra directed by Mr. Mustol, presented several numbers, and a reading by Oliver Stewart. After the business of the meeting, the crowd was divided into three groups and a very interesting round table discussion was conducted of the subject, "Mere Loyalty, Kindness and Reliability," led by Mrs. Fine. After the round table, the meeting adjourned and refreshments were served.

LOWELL

Lowell's Pets

Lowell school has two baby rabbits. One is white and the other is a blue-grey. We think lots of them. We keep them in a large box and sometimes one will stick its head out at the top.

We feed them lettuce, carrots and barley. They also drink lots of water. When we finish our work our teacher sometimes lets us hold one of the rabbits.

Mildred Veale.

Glee Club
Lowell's Glee club met last Monday after school. The meeting was called to order by Eileen Butka, president, and roll call taken by Jeanette Lewis. The dues of 25 were collected by Doris Hunt. We then went to the kindergarten and practiced some songs of two and three parts.

We have arm bands which are worn by members of the club. They are orange with the letters L. G. C. printed on them in white.

Game With Edison

Last Tuesday, Lowell school had a ball game with Edison. Lowell won the game with a score of 25 to 16. In the fourth inning Isalas Grandos hit a home run which was the only homer of the game. Roger McCune was catcher and Ronald Strotman, pitcher.

Both schools gave yells with which to cheer their teams. The lineup was as follows:
Roger McCune, catcher.
Ronald Strotman, pitcher and first.

Francis Conrad, pitcher and first.
Harold McCusker, first short.
Eugene McKenly, second.
Albert Hoffmaster, second short.
Joe Frias, third.

W. C. T. U. Contest
In our language room the fifth and sixth grades are working on the W. C. T. U. contest. We first wrote a letter to a friend in Australia telling how the methods of travel have improved since 1826.

We also wrote "Rule 6. of the Railroads" from dictation and a composition on the effects of alcohol. We hope that one of Lowell's pupils will win a prize.

Typing Certificates Awarded

Five more Willard pupils were awarded certificates of proficiency in typewriting last week. Four were given the Underwood certificate for passing the 30 word per minute test. They were: Mae Warling, who made 33 words; Evelyn Walbridge, 33; Doris Boiles, 37, and Florence Hutchins, 30. The certificate of proficiency from the Remington company for 25 words per minute was awarded to Lloyd Christian.

Many more pupils hope to win certificates this week when the March test is given.

Musical Assembly Program

The 2nd girls, under the direction of Miss Fitz and Miss Schroeder, were responsible for a splendid program of outside musical talent. Willard pupils have been well trained to appreciate good music as there are no programs given in our assemblies which receive hearty responses than those of the best musical talent. Margaret Huston was the announcer. Madame Leontine Redon, of Los Angeles, favored the audience with several lovely solos. She was accompanied by Miss Ruth Armstrong at the piano and Mr. Burns at the cello.

Mr. Edward Burns, accompanied by Miss Armstrong, played several cello solos.

The rest of the program was turned over to Mr. George Turner of Los Angeles, who gave an illustrated lecture on the history and development of music. He proved to the audience the three essentials to music, namely, rhythm, tune and harmony, in a very clever and highly entertaining manner.

Following the program the yell leaders led the pupils in some rousing yells which showed their appreciation to the performers who gave such a fine program.

Willard Service Club

The regular weekly meeting of the Willard Service club was held last Tuesday. After a very enjoyable lunch the president took charge. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary. A letter of appreciation from Ellen Pride was read. The Service club has installed the radio at her home for her to enjoy while she is confined to her bed. Mr. Archer discussed some plans for securing some pictures for the club room.

The president introduced Harry C. Westover, a local attorney, who gave us an interesting talk. He emphasized the fact that every time you take a step upward you are adding to your responsibilities as a citizen. He ended his interesting talk with an appropriate reading.

Norman Paul, the high point man in the track meet, gave a short talk.

—Walter Wilson.

Girls Lose to Garden Grove

It was the first game of the season for the senior indoor team, but it hurt, because the intermediate team also finished their game with the score in favor of Garden Grove due to their fine team work, experience, good judgment, few fumbles and a slow but accurate, consistent pitcher. There has been a little grief among the girls of the team because they would play more for the individual than the team, but Wednesday evening there was a fine spirit of co-operation among the girls. This fine spirit will win games for them in the future. They must cultivate and keep this spirit of friendliness and co-operation above all else.

They failed in that they knocked more flies than grounders, they forced the preceding base runner off of first too often which often resulted in a double out, and Mamie Sue Hill and Laura Cummings pitched their balls swiftly at the expense of accuracy.

The Garden Grove pitcher pitched slowly. The Willard girls were used to his and couldn't adjust themselves to the situation. The Willard lineup was

Moving Picture Program

Last Tuesday a pay assembly program, consisting of the film, "Joan d' Ark," and two shorter films, was held in Willard auditorium. The proceeds of the program went into the fund which is being raised to purchase a moving picture machine for the visual education department to be used in all Santa Ana schools; $47.50 was raised by the program.

5b's Enjoy Class Picnic

The 5b class enjoyed a long promised picnic at Orange County park Friday afternoon. The weather had interfered several times before when plans were made but spring finally came and the picnic became a reality. Immediately after school all the class members met in front of the building where enough cars were waiting to take them to the park. The afternoon was spent in playing ball, hiking and boating, after which an appetizing picnic supper of buns, wieners, salad, cake and pickles was served.

The class was accompanied by several parents, Miss Biggin, their class teacher; Miss Ball and Miss Smiley.

Our Neighbors

LONG BEACH—Action has been taken by the city council looking toward the construction of a new municipal auditorium on the ocean front between Pine and American avenues, in conformity with the choice of a site expressed by a majority of the voters at the March 9 election. Adopting a motion offered by Councilman C. C. Lewis, the council directed City Manager Charles S. Henderson to prepare plans and specifications for reclamation of tidelands at the designated location to be used as the site of a public assembly hall. The intention is to appropriate oil revenue next fiscal year at the rate of $50,000 a month to pay for the reclamation. Means of financing the building itself will be considered later. Bond issue or oil money is the alternative.

WHITTIER—Plans are well under way by the Whittier Progress club for the fourth annual Avocado show to be given April 20 to 30. As Pasadena has become widely known for its annual Tournament of Roses, and San Bernardino for its orange show, Whittier likewise aspires to become known for one of her outstanding achievements and that is the putting on of an annual avocado exhibit, unique in being the only one in the state, or in the United States. This year the show promises to surpass in horticultural interest and brilliancy or achievement, all former shows; floor space, even at this early date being greatly in demand.

CHATS WORTH—J. H. Snow, one of the directors of the Canoga Packing association, states that the new $40,000 packing house of his concern will be dedicated within another month, at which celebration all San Fernando valley growers will be invited. The packing house will have a main floor 80 feet wide by 172 feet long with a basement 12 feet deep. It will be one of the largest citrus packing-houses in Southern California. J. C. Forest will be manager of the plant. Snow also reports millions of lemons on the trees in the Chatsworth foothills district, and that the shipping situation has greatly improved. Association shipments are now averaging about 35 carloads daily, with about 3100 cars in storage.

LONG BEACH—The Junior college for Long Beach was approved by an overwhelming vote cast in its favor last week. There were 7282 votes cast at the three polling places within the city limits, and these showed the proposition to be favored by a count of more than 15 to 1.

RIVERSIDE—Citrus shipments from the Riverside district are now close to 3500 cars, over 800 cars ahead of last year. Last week was another lively one in shipping, 302 cars being sent out. Riverside markets continue to top the eastern market at fair prices.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST Other Parables of Jesus

SYNOPSIS ARRANGED BY DR. WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
SKETCHES BY KROESSEN

Little children were brought to Jesus that he might put his hands on them and pray, but the disciples rebuked those that brought them, not understanding the spirit of Jesus. (Matthew XIX: 13)

But Jesus said, Suffer little children and forbid them; for of such is the kingdom of heaven. (Matthew XIX: 14)

A rich young man of fine moral character inquired of Jesus the way to eternal life, asking, "What lack I yet?" (Matthew XIX: 16-20)

But he went away sorrowful, when Jesus, loving him, said, "Go and sell all thou hast and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven; and come and follow me." (Matthew XIX: 21-22)

THE TINYMITES
STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinies eyed the three queer men who rode within the tub, and then, they rushed down to the shore line and they shouted, loud, "Hello!" The three men answered, "How dee do. What little folks! Say, who are you?" "Come on ashore," we Coppy yelled, "and then you soon will know."

And so the three men came ashore. To watch them made the Tinies roar. They clamored from the funny tub as clumsy as could be. Then Coppy said, "We're Tinymites, just running 'round to see the sights, and watching you within that tub was really great to see."

"Ho, ho!" "Ha, ha!" The men laughed loud. "We're glad to meet your little crowd. It must be fun to run around with nothing else to do." "And who are you?" wee Scouty cried, and then, one of the men replied, "The butcher, the baker and the candle-maker, too."

And then he offered them a ride.

They reached the tub and crawled inside. It floated from the shoreline and went bobbing all around. The Tinies splashed and some got wet. The funny tub was near upset, and shortly they were mighty glad to be back on the ground.

The three queer men had disappeared and so the Tinies' way was cleared to journey onward through the woods to find adventure new. Not far away they found a house, and crept up quiet as a mouse. Then Clowny said, "It's empty, and the door is open. So in they went to be surprised, for suddenly they realized that dear old Mother Hubbard lived within the cozy place. She and her dog were there alone. The dog was begging for a bone. Though in the cupboard Mother looked, of food she found no trace.

THE WOMAN'S DAY

BY ALLENE SUMNER

If you want to give a dinner party that's "different," you might feed your guests a sea food cocktail, tomato bisque, caviar canapés, broiled white fish, and glazed sweetbreads with mushrooms, and just as they have sipped their demi-tasses, shoot yourself. That's what Mrs. Madeline Ferrugia of New York did a day or so ago. She had prepared a scrumptious dinner for her family and six dinner guests. But she didn't serve after-dinner mints. She shot herself instead.

Some people, women especially, will give even their lives to be the prima donna of each and every occasion. I know another woman who hasn't shot herself as yet, but she regales her guests with weepings and lamentations at her husband's cruelties. He, poor fellow, looks puzzled, and baffled, and doesn't seem to realize that "mama is just showing off."

The Pearl Necklace

If you found a string of pearls on the street, would you dare believe or even think of believing, that they were anything but ten-cent store ones? William Craig of New York, $30-a-week man, found a string of pearls on the street and took them home to the "little woman," remarking that "some shop girl was out a quarter." It seemed that a lady claimed the pearls, which were insured for $30,000. There was no reward. Virtue is its own reward, you know.

Do you remember the story of "The Diamond Necklace" by De Maupassant? The story of the poor woman who borrowed the necklace to wear to the ball, lost it, and crucified her very life to pay for the one which she bought to replace it? When she was almost a walking corpse, and life was too much for her, she learned that the borrowed necklace was paste, and worth about 50c.

Moral: Never believed that found pearls are fakes, and never believe

E. P.—An orange eaten before your breakfast is beneficial since your morning meal is very light. Acid fruit, especially uncooked fruit, does not combine with starch perfectly, so there should be enough time given for the fruit juice to be absorbed before taking a very starchy meal. Cream on your lashes could have nothing to do with forming lines in the skin.

T.—Too much sleep is weakening and depresses the nervous system; but people who sleep too much have something wrong with them anyway. The natural and healthy state is that in which a person wants to be active, and rather begrudges the many hours that must be spent in sleeping.

Mrs. F. Use this treatment once a day, or twice, usually after you have bathed or if you are tired and need to refresh yourself.

Mrs. G. P.—If you react quickly to a cold bath you will get more help from it than through any other thing you could do to get over the tendency to whiteheads. Use a bath brush freely all over your body even though you do not take the baths. Continue with the massage and cream; in fact, do everything to keep your skin active.

NATURE

TUMBLE-BUGS

By Arthur N. Pack
President, American Nature Ass'n.

A little while ago we were all listening to the marvelous things that were happening over in Luxor at the opening of the several caskets of King "Tut." Possibly you remember that among the descriptions of the dazzling decorations and ornate furnishings, frequent mention was made of jeweled scarabs, idealized representations of the sacred beetle of the Egyptians.

Will you be surprised when I tell you that these beetles belong to the same family as our humble, well-known tumble-bug, which in some ways is about the most unattractive, I might say unrefined, bug that it would be possible to find.

There are a good many varieties of this tumble-bug which are all alike in their method of depositing their eggs in balls of cow manure, the outside covered with earth, sand, or dust. This ball is then merrily rolled and tumbled along until a suitable place is found, where it is buried, sometimes several inches beneath the surface of the ground.

In these very unpleasant surroundings the egg hatches and the grub develops into the tumble-bug.

The discovery that cod and haddock frequent waters where the temperature is between 40 and 50 degrees Fahrenheit has led to the extensive use of thermometers by fishermen.

"Dark Horses" Rule Theater This Season

BY JAMES POWERS
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, March 29.—The day has passed when ballyhooed stars could string their names up in flashing bulbs, announce a premiere, and be reasonably certain of hearing the turnstiles click.

Old stand-bys, heretofore sure-fire crowd-headers, favorite idols and producers, are crumpling in heaps every week as unknown stars in unknown vehicles are flashing to the front.

"Broadway," with its likable little hooper, Lee Tracy, and its suave young producer, Jed Harris, bounced out of nowhere into the White Way's biggest hit with no fanfare of trumpets.

"Chicago," that satire on the American system of justice, written by a clever girl reporter who signed her daily sob column "Maureen Watkins," came slowly down the aisle to be acclaimed with a clatter of handclapping that nightly grows noisier.

"The Barker," by Kenyon Nicholson, starring Walter Huston as "Nifty" Miller, opened without the slightest provocation one evening, and has been jamming them in ever since.

And while all these upstarts are cornering the spotlight, not to mention the shekels, what is the old guard doing?

Eugene O'Neill saw his "Beyond the Horizon," revived for a short time only to droop. A Chicago test frightened producers away from his "Lazarus Laughed."

Pauline Lord fizzled out in "Sandalwood." J. P. McAvoy, nape of "The Pottery," wrote "God Loves Us," and then changed his faith to skepticism as it staggered into the wings. George Kelly, wearing such prize feathers as "The Show-Off" and "Craig's Wife," in his bonnet, hopefully started "Daisy Mayne" on its way only to see it flop. Jim Tully's "Black Boy" took a nose dive. Alice Brady watched three plays sink under her trim feet.

Even the importations from Paris and Moscow that heretofore caused a wide ripple made and feeble impression. Cecile Sorel with her company and Sascha Guitry teamed with Yvonne Printemps were disappointed, and the Habima Players from Moscow also went blotto. The Russian Ballet and Art Theater, usually good for a fair run, suffered from the same blighting frost along with the Charlott's Revue girls that Earl Carroll tried to inject into his Vanities. The Russian blood transfusion failed.

Frank Craven now is playing in "Money From Home," but thus far has not set the place on fire, and Louis Mann came back with "That French Lady," seemingly due also for an early exit.

The days when a David Belasco could announce a premiere, with said premier going over with an assured "click" are no more.

PURPOSE

If in the world we do no more than this:
Keep one small fire aglow,
One little doorway trailed with clematis,
Which love may smile to know;

One little garden where the pansies bloom,
And but a rose or two,
With laughter ringing in the sitting room
When the long day is through;

If those who share our lives in us rejoice
Despite life's care and pain,
If for their sake we've made the fairer choice,
We have not lived in vain.

True worth is not in fortune's proud display
Nor splendor's dazzling task,
Who lives his life with courage, day by day,
Does all the Lord shall ask.

MUSTOL WRITES MANY MUSICAL PIECES OF NOTE

By J. D. HODGMAN

SANTA ANA POLYTECHNIC HIGH SCHOOL, March 29.—Although known to a few, it is perhaps unknown to many of the students of Santa Ana high school that S. J. Mustol, of the high school band who has for many years composed band and orchestra music, is a renowned composer and is gaining recognition as a creator of many beautiful overtures, marches, and other pieces for band and orchestra.

Those who have been the Mission Play will be interested to know that the overture "In the Land of the Missions," played previous to the play, and also the entire orchestra for the drama are included among Mr. Mustol's work. The overture, "In the Land of the Missions," has gained great favor throughout California, having been played by many of the foremost musical organizations in the state.

The overture was recently played in a concert given by the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra, and Mr. Mustol had the privilege of personally directing the concert. It has also been played by the Long Beach Municipal band in two of their daily concerts, and broadcasted over radio on many occasions. The piece has gained so much popularity in musical circles in California that it has been chosen as the official contest number next year for the annual high school music contest, according to a letter received by Mr. Mustol from the chairman of the music contest association.

Another one of the director's compositions, "Sunnyland Overture" has also recently been accepted for publication on the success and merit of the overture "In the Land of the Missions." This piece will be finished in approximately three months and will be especially adapted for high school bands and orchestras.

AWARDS ARE MADE IN TYPING CLASS

By NELLIE SACKETT

ANAHEIM UNION HIGH SCHOOL, March 29.—Speed tests are given in the typing classes one class at various times through the month. Each student who writes 30 words or over, with certain limitations as to the number of errors permitted, is presented with a Certificate of Proficiency. In January, the Underwood Typewriter company awarded Certificates of Proficiency to Dorothy Thompson for writing 33 words a minute, and to Reoua Bever for writing 34 words a minute. In February, awards were made to Margaret Davis for writing 34 words a minute and to Lester Slaback for writing 30 words a minute.

The students taking typing one are very interested in the work and all are hoping to win awards of these types, which, later on, may lead to the winning of the medal. The typing classes are under the supervision of Miss Margaret Coleworthy.

Latin Students Offer Plays at Night Meeting

By FRED BURLEW

SANTA ANA POLYTECHNIC HIGH SCHOOL, March 29.—Featuring the election of John Moffatt to represent them in the "All Around Student" contest, the Latin club held its last meeting Wednesday night, with Helen Reynolds, consul, presiding.

The meeting was called to order and the minutes of two previous meetings were read by Ruth Bradley, secretary. They were accepted as read and Terry Stephenson, treasurer, gave his report concerning the finances of the club. Following this new business was brought up.

Following this the combined club sang "Gaudemus Igitur," accompanied at the piano by Corinne Blackbourne and led by Gayle Baldwin. The Latin 602 class then gave a pantomime "Bluebeard," directed by Dorothy Easton. There were three scenes: From the scenes Fred Burlew and David Roberts gave a translated debate on resolved that "A Hot Soup canal should be built between Carthage and Rome to supply the natives with hot soup in the winter months."

Two readings were then given by Marian Jean Berger, "Felix the Cat" and "The Broken Mirror." Following this Ellen Echeberry sang "Laurier Horatius." The Latin 404 class gave a play in four scenes "Theus and the Minutaur," directed by Charles Seales. Four boys and four girls from 206 gave two Latin rounds "Duc, Duc, Remos Duc" and "Nonne Dormus." Another Latin play, "Somnium," was given in three scenes by Latin class 401.

To top the evening, "To Cana, Patria" was sung by the whole club. Then vanilla ice cream and shamrock cookies were served.

Mother Colony News Notes

ANAHEIM UNION HIGH SCHOOL, March 29.—The members of the combined glee clubs of the Anaheim union high school presented "In the Garden of the Shah," a Persian operetta at a matinee Thursday, a performance that evening, and another Friday evening. It was offered in order to raise money for the scholarship fund, a fund which is set aside for persons who wish to borrow money for a college education. This money is returned again and is a revolving fund for education seekers.

The girls' first team hockey played Huntington Beach here last Thursday. The local girls played quite a fast game and won by a score of 12 to 1. As it is time for the baseball season to commence, only one more inter-city game will be played.

The cast chosen to present the senior play is working very hard.

P-T.A. CHAPTER PICK MARRIOTT ORGANIZED AT ANAHEIM H. S. REDLANDS MEET

By NELLIE SACKETT

ANAHEIM UNION HIGH SCHOOL, March 29.—Teachers and parents of the Anaheim high school district met last Tuesday to organize a section of the P-T.A. Mrs. George R. Greer, of Santa Ana, presided over the meeting.

An election of officers took place. Those elected are as follows: Mrs. J. L. Van der Veer, president; Mrs. F. C. Kinner, vice president; Mrs. H. C. Vogt, recording secretary; Mrs. D. F. Vogt, treasurer; D. F. Lehmer, auditor; Mrs. J. A. Claves, membership chairman; Mrs. Thaxton, historian; and Mrs. G. H. Goodale, parliamentarian.

The president called a special meeting which took place at her home March 28. The next regular meeting will be held on April 20. Although this organization is a new one in the Anaheim district, it is expected to be one of the most efficient in Southern California.

'Champ' Orator Gives Hints On Public Speaking

By JACK REED

SANTA ANA POLYTECHNIC HIGH SCHOOL, March 29.—A letter has been received from Herbert E. Wenig, who spoke here a few weeks ago, thanking the student body for the spirit shown toward him while he was in Santa Ana. Wenig won the international title last year.

Mr. Wenig says in his letter, "I certainly appreciated the courtesy extended by the Santa Ana student body and hope that one of your students may be successful in the coming oratorical contests."

The speech with which he won both the national and international contests was given by Mr. Wenig in assembly a few weeks ago. It has inspired several students to enter the oratorical contest who would not otherwise have entered. After the assembly Mr. Wenig interviewed those who were interested in the contest, giving them pointers as to how to organize their speech, how to learn it, and gave them a few secrets on delivery. He also suggested a few subjects or phases of the Constitution upon which to write speeches.

Boys Federation Formed at Poly

By VIRGINIA BRANNON

SANTA ANA POLYTECHNIC HIGH SCHOOL, March 29.—Discussion, criticism and compliments were heard about candidates for honorary positions in the Boys' Federation, Wednesday, March 23, when petitions were taken out.

Petitions were taken out for the following: President, Harvey Bear; vice president, Terry Stephenson; secretary, Harold Breeding; treasurer, Roger Hearn; representative from junior class, John Moffatt.

Elections will be held some time next week; so talk it up and get the most competent persons in the offices.

A boys' federation is a very important organization in a school and a great deal can be accomplished if the officers are live wires and full of initiative in doing their utmost for the organization.

A constitution has been written and adopted by a committee composed of chairman, Pat Riley; Warren Du Bois, Lowell Hamilton, Fred Burlew and Raymond Hutchins.

The history of the use of the classified columns is a story of successful effort.

Each player has an understudy and in this way two full casts are busy constantly. The play is to be "The Witching Hour."

The last edition of the Anorance featured the Girls' League. In that edition appeared the history of the local league from 1920 to this time, telling who were the officers in those years and what they accomplished. Each group of the league was represented and a brief survey of the year's work was given.

The third quarter of the school year will end April 1. Only nine more weeks and the school year will be over. It is very difficult for most students to do well the last few weeks of the school year, this, perhaps, is due to "spring fever." Let us hope that each school year will be as successful and enjoyable as this one has been.

UNIFORM DRESS IS FAVORED BY GIRL STUDENTS

By RUTH ANDRES

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, March 29.—Twenty-nine to nine was the result of the vote taken at the meeting of the mothers when they adopted the proposal for compulsory girls' uniform dress last Wednesday.

Twenty mothers were present and the remainder of the votes were cast by proxy. Miss Files showed sample skirts and middie. The skirts were of two qualities. The one of the best quality cost $4.35 and the cheaper one, $2.85. The middie of a very good quality, with blue collar and cuffs, was $1.85.

The arguments for the uniform dress given by those who favored the plan were that uniforms are much neater than dresses, that they are easy to take care of, that they are economical and that girls who have had to wear them in other schools like them very much.

The arguments put forth by those who opposed the uniforms were that stout girls do not look well in them, that girls do not like to wear them, that they grow tired of them and that middie and skirts are too hot for summer wear.

Uniform dress was voted on several weeks ago by the girls. When the uniforms were voted on the kind of ties were not decided upon. Last Friday the girls decided to wear black ties.

Uniform dress will be adopted when school opens next fall.

ANAHEIM SCHOOL SHOPS

Has the subject of shops ever given you cause to stop to think what they mean in our schools? Doubtless many of you who read this have never been inside of our school shops and if you have they don't mean much to you.

To begin with, the shop department is divided into four units: first, the wood-shop; second, the tin shop; third, the machine shop, and fourth, the auto shop.

Many useful pieces of furniture are turned out in our wood-shop. If, perchance, your mother has always expressed her desire for a certain piece of furniture to complete the furnishings of one of the rooms of the home, sign up for a period or so of shop and make it for her. You will have all the most modern facilities for making such pieces as cedar chests, lamps, nut bowls, candlesticks, library tables, sewing tables, and countless other useful and attractive things. However, if your talents are not adapted to wood-working, you may find that a course in tin-shop is more appropriate.

In the tin-shop, you work with the same machines as are found in the home as well as elsewhere. For instance, cookie cutters, canisters, pails, tin cups, and funnels are a few examples of the practicability of the course.

The person who is capable of operating the machinery found in the tin-shop is one who has a little value in the eyes of the community. In our machine shop, you learn how to operate the lathe, the milling machine, the shaper, and other machines necessary to the completeness of the course. You, also, learn how to do many different operations with each machine.

The auto shop is one of the most popular units of our entire shop department. It is possible to purchase an old car in a run-down condition at nominal cost and bring it into the shop and overhaul it from top to bottom. Modern methods of applying paint to the car, as well as means of making tops, are available. In this day of the automobile, this course can hardly be impractical.

A few more important things which are included in our shops are a forging section, apparatus for building storage batteries, and a small foundry.

Thus, if you have the desire for a vocational course in shop work, every opportunity awaits you in our school shop department.

ALL FOOL'S DAY

"The first of April, some do say, Is set apart for all Fool's day, But why the people call it so Nor I, nor they themselves, do know."

—Poor Robin's Almanac.

April the first, known as All Fool's day, has long in many European countries, been a day for mocking unwary persons by sending them on bootless errands or making them the victims of some other practical joke.

The custom seems to have been introduced into Germany from France in comparatively modern times. Various theories have been held as to the origin of the custom.

One writer traces the custom to the miracle play formerly presented at Easter which, sometimes showed the sending of Christ from Anias and Caphias and from Pilate to Herod.

Another suggestion was that the

Correction in Time for Mile By Grove Runner

By BESSIE GARDNER
GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, March 29.—How a Garden Grove runner, aided by a reporter and copy reader, shattered the world's record has been the subject of much comment at Garden Grove during the last week.

In the Junior Register last week a story was written in which it told of Paul Dozier, miraculously winning the mile in 4 minutes and 4 seconds, which is 6 seconds faster than the world record.

Garden Grove students regret to acknowledge that the report was not official. The time in which he ran the mile was 5 minutes and 4 seconds.

'SPRING FEVER' IS EVIDENT AT GROVE SCHOOL

HILDA MARK

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, March 29.—Spring fever is certainly catching because most every student in Garden Grove high has this "dreadful" disease.

The one and only ambition of everyone seems to be to ditch school and go swimming. Even "Trixie" has the spring fever and does nothing but sleep all day.

Many signs of spring are seen around the campus. The coaches have discarded their well-worn jerseys and are seen wandering over the ball diamonds in their shirt sleeves. The girls are all dressed in their organdies and spring dresses.

Mingled with spring fever is love and romance. Every nook and corner is filled with adoring boys and giggling girls.

Spring fever not only affects the students, but the teachers cannot. Instead of making them dreamy, they seem to grow crabby, perhaps they wish they were students, for of course, the students can ditch school, but the teachers cannot.

But it will not be long until spring vacation will be here and then the teachers and students will be on an equal basis when it comes to having a good time.

custom of playing tricks on the first day of April was derived from some ancient pagan custom, such as the Huli festival among the Hindus or the Roman Feast of the Fools. In France a person is called "An April Fish." In Scotland a "Cockoo." One fact, however, we do know and that is that the practice prevails in many countries under various names which would seem to indicate that it dates away back to the early history of the race.

—GRACE GILES, Garden Grove Union High School.

TO OUR MOTHERS

There is nothing more perfect or more loving than a mother's heart, for she is both the morning and the evening star of life.

There are mothers the world over, yet each is seen in a different light. She may be either a pal or a big sister to whom all troubles, hopes, and fears may be confided. She may be one capable and painstaking, yet distant. How sad it is when a child will say, "I cannot tell her; she will not understand!"

Again we must not overlook the sorrows to which a mother is often exposed. Nothing is sadder than the sight of a mother gently closing the dying eyes of her child—perhaps her only, maybe the first, often the last. When the cradle song passes into a dirge, the heart is indeed heavily laden.

In this age of speed we forget the tears that we may be causing some mothers. An incident is often told of two friends who were engaged in letter-writing. One was a young man from India; the other, a young woman, part of whose family resided in the same far-off land. The former was writing to his mother in India. When the letter was finished, the young lady offered to enclose it in hers, to save postage. This he politely declined, saying "If it be sent separately it will reach her sooner than if I send it through a friend; and, perhaps, it may save her a tear." Would that everyone were equally saving of a mother's tears!

The saddest sentence that may fall on the ear of a child is, "He has no mother; she is dead!" It comes like a voice from the sepulchre and involves all the sorrows that may befall the young. In that condition they are deprived of their wisest counselors and their most tender comforters. They are left to the prey to a thousand temptations and freed from one who could guide them without superiority. Though a child may be deprived of his parents, there is always the God of the Orphan, who once inspired his servant to say, "When my father and my mother forsake me, then the Lord will take me up."

—HELEN GRAFTON, Anaheim Union High School.

POLY STUDENTS PREPARE FOR ANNUAL APRIL FOOLS FROLIC; BEST "HICKS" TO GET PRIZES

By RUTH ANN WALKER

SANTA ANA POLYTECHNIC HIGH SCHOOL, March 29.—The biggest rube of the day in the craziest costume will be chosen when all the hayseeds meet in the "Oopsy House," April 1, to be felicitated by the rubiest assembly of all. The judges will award the much-to-be-desired (?) prizes solely on the merits of the "hickiness."

A mock debate will be featured in the assembly when the "Saints" will trounce, or will be trounced by the "Moors." Orest C. Clanton's college orchestra will play a few numbers to advertise the student body reception dance, sponsored by the Forum Club which will be given after the debate in honor of the Alhambra guests.

A hilarious farce, "The Tub," will be given by Mr. Phillip's sixth period drama class.

April Fool's day nonsense will culminate in a rube dance in the "Big Gym" from three to five. Admission is 25 cents for a single ticket, and 49 cents for double. Good music is assured. The best rube dancers will be awarded with a prize.

Club organizations will sell candy, peanuts, pink lemonade, hot dogs, and hamburgers.

All students are urged to come to school on Rube Day dressed as rubes. In years past Rube Day has been one of a great deal of merriment. Let's make this one the merriest of all.

Sophomore Girls Win Ball Game By Single Tally

By GRACE JILES

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, March 29.—Sophomore girls won the first interclass indoor game from the junior girls by a score of 10 to 9, last Wednesday.

Edith Chastain, Auda Le Flore and Kate Stewart pitched for the sophomore team, all showing good possibilities for the school team pitcher.

Alice Donahue, who played first base on the indoor team last year, was picked for the junior pitcher and pitched consistently through the entire game.

Only six juniors appeared for the game but they proved their good sportsmanship by opposing a sophomore team consisting of ten players. Seniors and freshmen girls will play in an interclass game tonight.

EXPECT FUN ON APRIL FOOL'S DAY

By ELIZABETH LEHNHARDT

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, March 29.—April fools day will be here again Friday. The day of tricks and foolish manoeuvres has again come around. Boys will be waiting around corners with pocketbooks tied to strings, and many people will be feeling foolish.

In Garden Grove high school the teachers have given many important assignments to be handed in on Fools' day. Miss Dodson has "ordered" the junior English class to have book reports in on the "funny day."

Mr. Doig has assigned several original speeches in the Civics class. Everyone is hoping these teachers will play jokes and forget the assignments.

It seems only probable that few folks will eat in the cafeteria on "All Fools' day" for life is short and will end soon enough as it is.

A girls' league meeting will be held on April 1 and everyone is expecting a foolish program. Fools will prevail throughout the day and "everybody will be happy."

It is evident that either Garden Grove or Huntington Beach will be fooled at the baseball game at Huntington Beach between the two schools Friday.

The quarter ends on April Fools' day and some people will be fooled when they get their "flunks." Some may be delightfully fooled by getting better grades than they expect.

Brea-Olinda Is Handed Defeat In Track Meet

By ALBERT MESSERALL

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, March 29.—With a 42-point margin, Garden Grove defeated Brea-Olinda high in a dual meet last Friday at Garden Grove. The total score was 64 to 22.

Wedel was high point man for Garden Grove with 13 1-4 points. He took first place in the 220-yard dash and second in the broad jump. He also tied for first with Stroud in the high jump and ran in the relay.

Sachs of Brea-Olinda had 12 points. He was next to Wedel of Garden Grove. He took two first places and two third place to make his total.

Privett took first place in the broad jump at 18 feet, 2 1-2 inches. This was the first meet in which he had jumped this year. Beside the broad jump, Privett took second in the 100-yard dash, but he was beaten several yards by Sachs of Brea-Olinda, who passed Privett in the last 25 yards to win.

Lewis won the 880-yard run, with Ashworth only a few inches behind. The time was 2 minutes, 15 seconds, which is his best record. Dozier, a Grove miller, ran the half mile because Brea-Olinda didn't have any mile runners, and came out third.

The shotgun was won by Messerall of Garden Grove, the distance was 37 feet, 4 1-2 inches. Thayer of Brea-Olinda was next, with a distance of 35 feet, 4 inches.

The relay was won by Garden Grove. Mitchell started off with a big lead, but the third man from Brea-Olinda was a few yards ahead of Dozier. Wedel ran the last 220 yards and held his opponent 10 yards behind.

The discus was won by Sachs of Brea-Olinda at the distance of 88 feet, 10 inches. He had a hard time to keep it in the zone, two of his firsts were fouls.

SANTA ANA TO DEBATE WITH ALHAMBRA H. S.

By ARTHUR WAKEFIELD

SANTA ANA POLYTECHNIC HIGH SCHOOL, March 29.—All students and friends are urged to attend one of the biggest debates ever participated in by the Santa Ana high school, when it meets Alhambra here on the evening of April 1.

The outcome of this debate will reveal whether or not Santa Ana, which is now third in the league, will have a chance for the finals.

The league standing is now: Santa Monica, 14; Jefferson, 12; Santa Ana, 11.

If we win with a three to nothing decision we will have a sure chance for the finals, otherwise a two to one decision will depend on the outcome of Santa Monica and Jefferson. A score of below two will eliminate us from the finals.

To make the affair interesting a special program has been arranged. The combined glee clubs will sing two numbers, "Southern Memories," from "Plantation Melodies," and "The Pirate King," from "Pirates of Penzance."

Immediately after the debate there will be a student body dance with Alhambra as guests. The dance is sponsored by the Forum club who have secured the College Club Orchestra for that evening. Besides the dance, each club in the school will put up a candidate for the best "All Around Student."

Townpeople and Teachers Accept Parts In Drama

By SAM S. SASAHARA

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, March 29.—"The Delinquent" is the play chosen by P-T.A. to be given on May 20, for the purpose of raising money for a scholarship fund. This play is a four-act comedy drama written by Katherine Brown Miller and Allena Harris. The play is heavier than the ordinary comedy drama.

The setting is laid in New York and the story of the play deals with two boys who steal pigeons and consequently are brought before the judges of juvenile court. The climax of the play comes in a very dramatic court scene.

COAST LEAGUE CLUBS OFF IN PENNANT RACEOaks, Angels, Beavers and San Francisco Missions
Rated Title Contenders

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—Baseball's 1927 barrier was to be sprung on the Pacific slope today. Eight entries in the annual coast league derby, girded for a nip-and-tuck race, were set to gallop down the 20-week stretch that will provide fans with their major sport from now until the waning days of September.

Lured by prospects of ideal baseball weather—warmth and sunshine—in marked contrast with last year's opening, more than 70,000 fans, it was estimated, would hie themselves into sanctuaries of the summer sport at San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles and Sacramento, to thrill at the magic words "play ball!" And the sound of willow against horseshide.

With Oakland, Los Angeles, Portland and San Francisco's Missions picked, on paper, as the most potential first division possibilities, Seattle, Sacramento, the Seals and Hollywood were prepared to fight hard for recognition.

Oakland's charging Acorns, presenting the fastest infield and perhaps the premier hurling staff of the circuit, opened at home for the first time in years, against the Missions.

Bob Hasty, veteran former Seattle and American league hurler, who is in excellent shape, was slated to start the Oaks toward the pennant and opposing him on the slab was to be Herman Pilleto, headed toward a great season.

At San Francisco, the Seals, out to avenge last year's collapse will clash with Portland's Beavers. Earl Kunz, who promises to have one of the best years of his career this season, was selected to start for the Seals. The veteran "Doc" Wright was the Angel hurling selection, while Jimmy Edwards, just down from the majors, was "Red" Killefer's choice.

Hollywood opened at Sacramento. A prize Solon battery, Louis Vinci, a stone's throw from the majors, and Hank Severide, the Yankees' world series catcher last year, was slated to start. Frank Shellenback was tentatively selected to fling for the Stars.

BRITISH PILOT SETS
THREE SPEED MARKS

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 29.—Major H. O. D. Seagrave, British racing car expert, today set three unofficial world's records, driving an automobile faster than any man ever has done before.

Seagrave's Sunbeam was clocked at a speed of 201.711 miles an hour for one kilometer, 203.841 for one mile and 208.616 for five kilometers. The official record for one kilometer, held by Malcolm Campbell, is 174.222 miles an hour; for the mile 173.883.

ROSS YOUNG IMPROVED
SAN ANTONIO, March 29.—Ross Young, Giant outfielder, is much improved, following the last of a series of blood transfusions last Saturday. He is receiving visitors at the hospital.

DONS TO ENTER
PRELIMINARIES
OF J. C. MEET

Preliminaries in track events for the Southern California Junior college conference meet will be held tomorrow at Riverside and Coach Graham Harris, Santa Ana, Junior college mentor, will transport all his sprinters and hurdlers to compete in the qualifying rounds.

Santa Ana is conceded to have a chance to win second place in the conference meet. Without question, Pasadena, champions of the dual meet circuit, will take the most points in the conference affair and it is only a question as to how the others will fall in line behind the Pirates.

Santa Ana's strength in the middle distance events and in the field events is being counted on by Harris. Especially in the quarter-mile, Santa Ana is supreme with a quartette of racers, Lon McIntire, Donald Squires, Mark Martin and Russell Kohk. These athletes will be entered in the 400 yard dash preliminaries.

Don Miner and Gerald Twist will be Santa Ana's entries in the sprints and Twist also will run the low hurdles in the preliminaries.
Johnny Wardwell has been entered in the high stick obstacle race.
The conference meet will sound the "taps" for track season at Santa Ana Junior college, except for a post-season meet, the Santa Barbara Invitational, to be held late in April, in which Coach Harris intends to enter the Santa Ana track squad for the chance to win some chad decorations.

YANKEES JUST AS STRONG AS EVER—FARRELLBy HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, March 29.—New York will be one of the two or three favorites in the 1927 American league pennant race if for no reason other than the Yankees won the pennant last season.

At this time last spring the possibilities of the Yankees were rated by several experts as being worth about one nickel a dozen.

The Yanks didn't look so much in the St. Petersburg training camp but they went away to a flying start when baseball games entered the percentage column.

The club that Miller Huggins will start this year is just as strong as it was last season, and it has a more powerful secondary defense.

Strong in Reserves
John McGraw is credited with the remark that no baseball club is stronger than its utility men.
The Yankees have almost two entire teams of equal ability.

The Yankees, however, will need more than they had last year because the opposition of the Philadelphia Athletics and the Washington Senators will be more serious.

It must be remembered that the Yankees fell into a late season slump last year that might have cost them the championship if they hadn't a wide margin of games.

The outfield of the Yankees—
Babe Ruth, Bob Meusel and Earl Coombs—is far superior to any other combination except that of the Detroit Tigers.

Infield Is Efficient
The infield, Gehrig, Lazzeri, Koenig and Dugan, is a good infield if not a great one. The catching staff with Benny Bengough, Pat Collins and Brabowski, is capable and the pitching staff headed by Herb Pennock, Waite Hoyt and Shocker, is as good as any in the league.

Some of the experts figure Koenig is not a good shortstop. His errors last season, and his faulty work in the world's series are still being pointed out but his bosses, Colonel Jake Ruppert and Miller Huggins, seem to be satisfied with his play.

Bab Ruth, of course, has to be considered as a factor in the make-up of the club. Ruth is in shape and with Ruth hitting, the Yanks hit.

(This is the third of a series written by Henry L. Farrell, United Press sports editor, discussing the chances of the teams in the 1927 major league pennant races.—Sport Editor's note.)

ing at the Olympic tonight and in a like exclamation dope George rounds, but the predictions are that they will terminate inside the limit.

nual Orange county track and field meet, open to every institution in this section except Santa Ana, will be held on the Orange high school cinderpath Saturday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock.

Eight schools will compete in the classes which originated back in the years even before such heroes as Fred Kelly, Clarence Tedford and Bob Spurgeon were in the sport limelight hereabouts.

These institutions are Fullerton, the ranking favorite to take the title; Anaheim, Huntington Beach, Tustin, Orange, San Juan Capistrano, Garden Grove and Brea-Olinda.

Representatives will meet in the Orange gymnasium at 7:30 o'clock tonight for the purpose of drawing for places in the preliminaries that will be run tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and to make further arrangements for the competition.

Preliminaries will be necessitated in the following events: 220-yard low hurdles, 120-yard high hurdles, 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash in Class A, and 50, 100 and 220-yard dashes and 120-yard low hurdles in Class C.

In the open class points will be awarded for four places, counting 5, 3, 2 and 1. In C class three places will win points as follows—5, 3 and 1. Medals will be given in all four places in the open meet, with individual medals going to members of the winning relay team. In Class C, ribbons will be given to point winners with medals going to members of the winning relay team.

There will be a cup for the winning team in each meet. The C class meet will permit athletes to compete in two events only in addition to the relay. In Class A entrants may compete in three events not including the relay.

C. I. F. rules will govern the meet.

FULLERTON TO HAVE COUNTY EISTEDFOD

Preliminaries for the Orange County Eistedfod, to be held in Fullerton April 7, 8 and 9, which were conducted in the Santa Ana polytechnic high school Saturday for entrants from the southern part of the county, resulted in 21 contestants being passed by the judges.

The judges included Alan Revell, Miss Jane Stanley and Miss Mabel Woodworth. Fifty-three persons had entered the contest.

The final elimination for the Los Angeles contest will be the one held in Fullerton. The various groups will meet as follows:

Thursday, April 7—Junior high school and high school clubs will compete in the afternoon and adult voice ensembles will be tried out in the evening.

Friday, April 8—grammar school orchestras, violins and wind instruments will be heard in the afternoon. The evening will be devoted to speech, art and dance.

STANFORD REMAINS FAVORITE IN MEET

LOS ANGELES, March 29.—Saturday's Trojan-Cardinal track meet at Stanford looms as bitterly contested throughout, with Stanford having a slight edge in the dope over the U. S. C. crew.

U. S. C. will have to depend on Borah, House, Smith and Parsons doing the dashes in top form.

Stanford appears a certain cleanup crew in the shot put with Hoffman, Forester, Fleischacker and Way all having marks higher than those credited to Aleski of U. S. C.

Reported recovery of Captain Babcock's strained leg muscles make the Stanford chances in the 440 brighter than those of "Chink" Sauters.

Often it takes an actual happening to point out the defect in a rule regarded as fool-proof when made.

Until recent years, if the umpire was hit by a thrown ball after an infielder had made a play on a batted ball and was attempting to retire the batter, the ball immediately became dead and the play started all over again.

Here is the freak play that caused a revision of the rule. Had it not been changed the umpires would probably have had to wear suits of armor.

Eddie Collins and Jack Barry, then starting at second and short for the Philadelphia Athletics, pulled the play, however, without any malice aforethought.

The game was played at New York. One of the New York batters, with two out and runners on second and third, hit a hard drive through the pitcher's box that looked like a base hit.

Eddie Collins made a remarkable play on the ball but was in no position to throw. Sensing the situation, he tossed the ball to Shortstop Jack Barry, who was equally alert.

Making a hurried throw to first in an effort to retire the batsman, Barry hit Umpire Bill Dinneen in the back, as he raced over to first to get a better view of the play.

Both runs scored on the play and the batsman reached second.
New York yelled murder when the umpires sent the runners back to their original bases, second and third, and made the batsman hit over.

The game was protested but the

GIRLS' SPORTS WILL BE FIRST
DEMONSTRATEDEntire Physical Education
Staff at High School to Participate in Tourney

Final plans for the physical education department's demonstration in Andrews gymnasium here tomorrow and Thursday were being completed today by the staff of Santa Ana high school physical directors, headed by Coach Walter Scott.

Girls' events will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:20 o'clock and the boys' program will begin at 7 o'clock Thursday evening. Both will be free to the public.

An elaborate program has been prepared to show Santa Ana citizens the work that is accomplished at the high school in the day-today physical training classes. All types of athletic exercise from folk dancing to hockey games will be demonstrated by the girls tomorrow afternoon.

To Give Folk Dances
Folk dances of Danish, American, Irish and German countries will be given under the direction of Miss Florence Treadway.

The first event on the program will be a drill and relay, directed by Miss Alverda West. The folk dancing then will be given, followed by a cage ball contest.

Tennis strokes will be demonstrated by girls, coached by Miss Anderson and a hockey game will be played by the Santa Ana co-ed team, winner of the county inter-school series. Miss Diana Anderson will drill the girls in formal gymnastics and games. The afternoon events will be concluded with a swimming exhibition in the plunge.

An even more extensive program has been outlined for the boys, according to Coach Scott.

New Sport to Be Shown
During the evening, Coach Gerald ("Tex") Oliver will present the new type sport, "land crab football," which is performed with the huge cage ball. In this game the players do not touch the spheroid with their hands but attempt to score by bouncing the ball on their feet from one end of the gymnasium to the other.

A veritable three-ring circus will be in operation when Coach Bill Footle's gymnasts, Coach Oliver's boxers and wrestlers and the Y.
M. C. A. parallel bar team, composed of Herbert Prior and Homer Humphrey, perform at the same time.

Blanchard Beatty, former Santa Ana high school and junior college athlete, now a life guard at Newport Beach, will do some spectacular diving as the final stunt on the boys' program. With Charles Dolbee, of the high school assisting him, Beatty also will demonstrate live saving methods.

umpires had rendered the correct decision according to the playing code and were upheld.

It was apparent the rule was a bad one. It made the umpires a target for smart infielders. In a critical spot, where it was practically certain there was no chance of setting the batter, all that was necessary to start the play was to hit the umpire with the ball.

The rule was changed at the urgent insistence of the umpires.
The ball is now considered in play if it hits an official.

ORANGE COUNTY BEET GROWING INDUSTRY WILL REVIVE, BELIEF

Manager of Holly Company Says Business Will Never Be as Strong as Before

WILL OPERATE DYER FACTORY

Two Plants May Be Opened Next Year if Yield Over County Is Heavy Enough

The sugar beet industry in Orange county is coming back—it is coming out of the slump it has been in for the past few years, but never will be as strong as it was when five sugar mills in the county sliced thousands upon thousands of tons of the sugar beets.

This statement is based on the observation of G. J. Daley, manager of the California interests of the Holly Sugar corporation, who announced today that the plant of the Santa Ana Sugar company at Dyer the coming season will extract the sugar contents of 85,000 to 90,000 tons of county grown beets.

At the same time, Daley announced that the local mill would be the only one in operation in the county this year, which means the plant of the Los Alamitos Sugar company will again remain idle. The manager anticipates operation of this plant in 1928.

Acreage Increases

Beets will be harvested from approximately 10,000 acres this year, as compared with 8000 acres last season. While the increase in acreage is only 2000 acres, the production will be 60 per cent greater than for the last season, in the opinion of the manager.

Pointing out that rains this winter had been abundant, Daley said that indications at this time warrant the declaration that the average yield per acre will equal that in the best days of the beet growing industry in this county.

Farmers are realizing the value of rotating crops, and growers in Southern California are paid better prices for their product than are paid anywhere else in the United States, the manager asserted. He expressed the belief that owners of sugar beet lands next year will contract acreage sufficient to produce tonnage that will make it profitable to operate the two mills remaining in the county.

Daley predicts an average yield of 8 to 9 tons an acre on lands planted for this season, which means that acreage under contract to the local plant will yield 80,000 to 90,000 tons. The capacity of the plant is approximately 90,000 tons for the season run.

In anticipation of operation to full capacity, the mill is now being overhauled. Worn out equipment is being replaced and additions are being made, the new installation being machinery of the very latest development in beet making equipment.

It is expected the grinding season will start early in August, and when the plant is started it will continue in operation until all beets grown for the company have been sliced. The usual season run is three months.

PICTURE OF HONEYMOON

FIRST ORANGES TO IOWA SENT 44 YEARS AGO

The first carload of oranges and lemons shipped into Iowa was from a Santa Ana fruit ranch and was unloaded at Cedar Rapids 44 years ago next month and the odor of the golden beauties was that of the "sweet south, only sweeter."

All this, according to the April 25, 1884 issue of the Cedar Rapids Republican, then little more than a handbill, which is the prized possession of Mrs. E. J. Archer, of 104 South Pacific avenue, Tustin.

The same newspaper contained the announcement of the marriage of Mrs. Archer, then Miss Sarna Stevens, to Perdie Archer, an employee of the B. C. R. and N. railroad.

The oranges and lemons were consigned to Cedar Rapids by Smith and Allen, of Santa Ana. This city then was in Los Angeles county. J. N. Smith was the father of William N. Smith, manager of Guggenheim company's local packing plant.

"Cedar Rapids is always just a little ahead of other Iowa cities in enterprising moves and we are permitted to chronicle a fact which proves the statement true," the Cedar Rapids Republican printed.

"The arrival of the Santa Ana fruit, 'Sutliff' brothers, wholesale fruit dealers, have stored in their warehouse the first carload of California oranges and lemons ever brought into the city and, we guess, into Iowa."

"A reporter for the Republican who visited the warehouse was taken through their first cellar and his mouth fairly watered. Almost a thousand boxes of oranges and lemons, piled one above another, are there, and the odors are those of the 'sweet south, only sweeter.'"

"This new consignment of oranges is from Santa Ana, Los Angeles county, California, and the lemons are from there also. These were grown by Smith and Allen, and are of the finest variety. The variety of the fruit, and the large quantity which the Messrs. Sutliff have brought here for the Iowa market, makes the purchase of more than general importance."

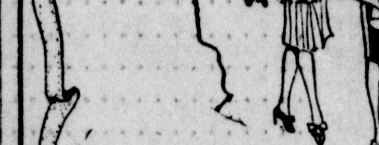

"The fruit arrived safely and in splendid condition for the trade. We are glad, as all are, that our enterprising Cedar Rapids firm is going to put California oranges on the market at reasonable prices."

The first story printed in the English language in book form was Malory's "Morte d'Arthur," printed in 1477 by Caxton.

LACK OF FUNDS BRINGS 2 S. A. YOUTHS HOME

Lads Visit Old Europe and Hawaii But Forced to Return When Money Goes

If it hadn't been for a shortage of funds, the two Santa Ana musketeers, Robert O'Brien and Donald Hillman, might have been in China where war is threatening instead of being back in Santa Ana today.

That was their only regret. The two youths returned to Santa Ana Saturday and since that time they have been besieged with inquiries, calls and visits until they almost wish they had chosen the Chinese war zone preferences. An interesting tale of shipwreck and adventure is related by the Santa Ana boys, gone for a nine months' tour to Hawaii and to Europe.

During their wanderings, they first went to Hawaii. All the hulu hulu girls, they protest, are fictitious or either have all been imported to dance in American vaudeville troupes. As far as finding awful wickedness in gay Paris when they later crossed over to the other side of the world, they could discover none.

The greatest thrill of the world jaunt was experienced when the "Casper" on which they were sailing, went on the rocks off the coast of Finland. For 17 days the trip was delayed until the ship was floated off the rocks and taken to port under its own power.

While in Europe, the two boys visited Finland, Scandinavia, Denmark, Germany, France, Spain and England.

Bulging suit cases of relics of the trip were brought back from the trip.

The two youths, adopting a special technique, traveled across the United States by getting auto "lifts." They assumed the role of rah, rah college boys with crusher hats and knicker pants. Their dress enabled them to get rides with little difficulty. Twice they crossed the United States in this manner.

However, their college costume didn't prevent them from being deported from England because of lack of funds at the time of the unemployment crisis there.

From Finland, they sailed on the southern route to Cuba. The return across the continent was made through the southern states. When questioned as to their plans, both said that they intend to stay in Southern California for a while. No more world tours for some time, they say. O'Brien plans to continue his college course at Pomona and Hillman is making application to work as a theater advertising manager.

PRISONER, WORKING AT PARK, ESCAPES

J. M. Liye, Orange county prisoner, serving 300 days on a charge of possession of intoxicating liquor, escaped late yesterday afternoon while working with the chain gang at Orange County park.

A search of the vicinity of the park by officers on duty failed to reveal any trace of the man. Liye was working under the orders of the county carpenter at the time and was not with the other prisoners who were being guarded by deputy sheriffs, Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy sheriff, said.

Liye was sent to the Orange county jail from Anaheim. He began his sentence January 28.

3000 PLAN TO COME TO BIG CONCLAVE HERE

Pre-registration figures for the state convention of the California Christian Endeavor union to be held in Santa Ana June 22 to 26 indicate that there will be over 3000 young people in attendance.

Miss Edith McDonald, state general secretary, made that report Sunday before the members of the Santa Ana convention executive committee, meeting in the city Y. M. C. A. building. Already several counties have gone over their allotted quota and the time for registrations to close is a month away.

The counties of San Luis Obispo, San Diego, Santa Barbara and Contra Costa have passed their quota.

This year's annual convention in Santa Ana promises to be one of the biggest, in point of numbers, that has been entertained at the state conferences. Extensive plans are being made to receive delegates. A parade to Balboa and around a circuit through the orange groves of the county is on the program for convention day, Saturday.

The Santa Ana convention executive committee approved a budget calling for raising $2050 to meet the expenses of the conference at Sunday's meeting.

Members of the state executive committee attended the meeting to advise the convention committee. State officers here were Glen Wright, president; Paul C. Brown, Pacific coast field secretary; Miss Edith McDonald, state general secretary; A. H. Anderson, treasurer; Miss Mary G. Brown, junior superintendent, and Miss Anna Shields, Los Angeles office secretary.

PICKPOCKETS BUSY HERE CIRCUS DAY

Police are searching for a young, well dressed man, suspected of being connected with a pickpocket gang which operated in Santa Ana yesterday.

Dr. Thomas Bagley, 1908 Valencia street, reported to police yesterday afternoon that his pocketbook was stolen as he entered a Pacific Electric car, on the Santa Ana-Orange line. He gave a good description of a suspect.

The pocketbook contained $15 in cash.

That pickpockets also operated at the stage depots in Santa Ana yesterday was reported and investigation was made by officers, but other victims were not found.

J. A. Cranston To Preside at Meet Of School Heads

J. A. Cranston, city superintendent of Santa Ana schools, will preside at the annual spring meeting of the Southern California City Superintendents' association, to be held next Thursday afternoon in the Santa Monica high school.

Ever since the association was organized, in 1922, Superintendent Cranston has been its president, having been re-elected each year. Thursday's meeting, according to reports and remarks on matters taken up at the annual convention of superintendents of the National Education association, held recently in Dallas, Texas.

Another matter to come before the meeting, Cranston explained, will be discussion of the superintendent's office as a medium of contact between the teaching force and the general public.

125 S. A. ELKS PAY VISIT TO LODGE IN L. B.

Santa Ana Elks to the number of 125 motored to Long Beach last night to attend the meeting of the lodge at that place. Officers of Santa Ana lodge put on the initiation work and made "good Elks" of eight men of that community.

Support given the local officer by the membership was highly appreciated and the large number attending from here evidenced appreciation by the membership of the splendid work done by the local officers.

Approximately 600 "bills" were present at the meeting, the lodge room being taxed to its capacity to accommodate the big crowd. Following the meeting the Elks were entertained by vaudeville artists appearing at the West Coast theater there.

Santa Ana officers putting on the work were Wm. McKay, exalted ruler; J. L. McFadden, esteemed leading knight; Fred Newcom, esteemed lecturing knight; Stanley Reinhaus, esteemed loyal knight; Fred Forgy, esquire; G. P. Campbell, inner guard; J. F. Adams, tyler; E. R. Majors, secretary; W. R. Gordon and Joe Kozina, musicians.

Placentia Man Is Sent to Jail

Adolfo Rangel, 27, Placentia, was sentenced to serve 50 days in the Orange county jail, when he was given a hearing in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today on a charge of driving his machine recklessly and while under the influence of liquor.

Rangel was arrested by State Officers Hurd and Adams Sunday evening at the intersection of the Lincoln boulevard and Buena Park road.

Germans Dislike Very Thin Women

BRESLAU, Germany, March 29.—When a woman in America diets to willow slenderness, she wins her husband's approval. But if she does it in Germany, her husband may win a divorce. A man here came into court with a demand for a divorce, saying his wife had reduced 31 pounds so that she could wear fashionable clothes. He argued that this was a deliberate reduction of what she knew was her principal charm and so constituted a legal grievance. The court agreed with him. He's single now.

EUCCHARISTIC CONGRESS FILM COMES FRIDAY

Pageantry and ceremonial, vast crowds in gorgeously magnificent settings, world figures moving with dignity through rituals, a drama of reality, such are the pictures of the 25th international Eucharistic congress, which will be shown next Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock and evening at 7 and 9 o'clock, at Yost Spurgeon street theater. The film is the first of its kind to be shown in the United States.

The film is a great effort to bring to the screen an epoch of history as it is being lived. As one sees unfolding the beginning of the story, the conference of Pope Pius XI in the Vatican, when he sends his Legate, Cardinal Bonzano to the United States, the latter's brief visit in Paris, and his departure for America, the magnificent welcome in New York City, and the path of the great cardinal train, especially at Albany, which gives the keynote to the whole picture. Here many thousands of people drop to their knees in the crowded streets, to receive the blessing of the Papal legate.

At Soldiers' field, the great stadium with towering granite walls, a memorial to heroes of the city by the lake, the real pageantry begins. Never did any director have such a setting, never before such a cast. Hundreds of thousands of people crowd the scene.

A score of cameramen follow the scenes day after day, and so well are they scheduled that not an incident is missed, and 8000 feet of pictures have been made into the film to be shown here, with a full orchestral accompaniment. More than 30,000 feet of film were shot and the entire picture has been presented by William Fox to Cardinal Mundelein, the sponsor of the congress, and will be kept in the historical archives of the church.

Important matters relating to administration of the county juvenile home will be taken up at the regular monthly meeting of the county juvenile committee, to be held Wednesday, March 30, at 4 p. m., in the office of Leroy Warren, county probation officer, Hall of Records, according to an announcement by J. A. Cranston, city superintendent of schools and chairman of the committee.

Other members of the committee are W. C. Roberts, supervisor of attendance, county superintendent's office; Mrs. W. M. Smart, Santa Ana; Mrs. F. T. Edmiston, Anaheim; Albert Sitton, Fullerton; Mrs. W. B. Tedford, Santa Ana, and J. J. Zieman, Santa Ana.

Word was received today by City Superintendent Cranston, chairman of the county juvenile committee, from Assemblyman Dr. C. D. Ball, that the 24-hour school bill, providing for the employment of regular certificated teachers at current wages in juvenile homes, has passed both houses and is now before Governor Young for his signature.

This measure, Superintendent Cranston explained, will not only enable the juvenile authorities to secure high class teachers for detention homes but will bring about a closer co-operation between the juvenile and educational authorities.

BARNES CIRCUS MAY MAKE S. A. WINTER HOME RAYMER SAYS

Proposed Sites for New Quarters Looked Over by Al. G. Barnes Yesterday

MAYOR PURINTON WORKS ON PROJECT

Candidates for Office in Coming Elections Guests Of Junior C of C Monday

Al G. Barnes, owner of the circus which bears his name, is looking for a new winter quarters location and is seriously considering Santa Ana, George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, told the members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at the meeting of the young men's organization last night.

Raymer said he and Mayor Frank Purinton had spent Monday with Barnes looking over several proposed sections. The present property of the circus at Culver City is to be sold and the menagerie and equipment will not be located there next year, Barnes told Raymer. The Santa Ana secretary, who has known Barnes for a number of years, expressed himself as pleased with the attitude of the owner toward Santa Ana. A decision in the matter cannot be reached for several weeks at least, Raymer said, and several months may elapse before final selection of the acreage.

Aspirants for election to the board of city trustees and the board of education were present in numbers at the Junior Chamber meeting. Each candidate introduced himself and mentioned the office being sought. For the advertising, each of the candidates was "fined."

The main address of the evening was delivered by L. L. Beeman, teacher of history at the Santa Ana high school and junior college. He explained very clearly the circumstances back of the present strained relations with Mexico, Nicaragua and China. He predicted that the Chinese situation would be adjusted without war with any of the powers that have sent warships to Shanghai.

Bernice Brandels, youthful pianist and radio star, and Gerry Tatum, violinist, offered pleasing entertainment numbers and were encouraged by George Wheeler. During the business session which followed, with President Bob Fernandez presiding, J. A. Cranston spoke very enthusiastically upon the work of the Junior Chamber in sponsoring the Santa Ana Boys Chorus and of the stimulating effect the organization had in the study of music in the public schools and in Santa Ana as a city. He said he hoped that next year the activities of the chorus would be expanded and that it would continue to herald the fame of Santa Ana over the air and in concerts as a city of music lovers.

President Fernandez said an especially radio and program by professional artists would be on the bill April 11, the next general meeting.

NEWS FROM ORANGE AND SURROUNDING DISTRICT

WASTE, WAGES SPEECH HEARD BY KIWANIS

FULLERTON, March 29.—Fred Blair, superintendent of the Goodwill Industries of Los Angeles, gave an entertaining talk to the Fullerton Kiwanians at their weekly luncheon yesterday noon at McFarland's cafe. His talk was illustrated with lantern views showing the different phases of the salvage and rehabilitation work which is carried on by the organization.

The speaker told how "junk is turned into jobs," "waste in wages" and "down-and-outers into wage earners." He stated in the course of his address that his organization believed in giving aid and not alms. "We are trying to relieve a situation which is becoming an ever-increasing problem in our large cities," Blair said. "We provide jobs for many of the jobless, giving particular preference to those who are handicapped, the cast-offs from industry, the lame, the halt and the blind. We believe that giving a person a chance is better than charity. We also help them to learn as well as earn."

Blair described some of the work which his organization does. There is very little material wasted at the large plant which is operated by the organization in Los Angeles. Seventeen trucks are used at all times to make collections of clothing, shoes, old paper and other junk. The old clothing is fumigated and then placed on sale at several stores in Los Angeles which cater to needy people. The rags are made into rugs, and old newspapers are shredded and sold for excelsior, he said.

The Good Will Industries also operates a cafe, lodging house, nursery for babies, as well as carrying on much educational work. The organization furnished 8000 jobs, provided 290,000 meals and gave sleeping accommodations to 7700 during the year, the speaker said.

Several announcements were made by Jess Hardy, president. He informed the members that the La Habra Kiwanians will have charge of the program on next Monday here. He also stated that the Fullerton Kiwanians will help take care of transportation to the Easter Sunrise services on Hillcrest.

T. D. Robertson, local nurseryman, and the Rev. Charles E. Koenig, pastor of the First Methodist church, were received into membership, with Louis E. Plummer delivering the charge.

OPEN NEWPORT HARBOR JETTY BIDS APRIL 25

NEWPORT BEACH, March 29.—Bids for the construction of two jetties at the entrance to Newport harbor will be opened by the city trustees April 25, it was decided at a meeting of the trustees last night. Trustees set the date for opening bids immediately after approving the plans and specifications for the jetties as prepared by City Engineer Paul Kressly, who is in charge of the jetty work.

Kressly's plans were approved at a special meeting of the harbor advisory committee Saturday night. The advisory committee reported its approval to the trustees.

Trustees took action last night to throw the Newport Beach pier open for the use of the live bait boats. The city has never allowed the small fishing boats to land at the pier, but demands of local fishing experts and business men last night caused them to change their minds. Previously, fishermen desiring to go deep sea fishing in small boats have either left from the bay in a chartered boat or have motored to Long Beach to take the live bait boats.

The city accepted 60 feet of bay frontage extending from Bay avenue to the bay front, from the Newport Landing company. The gift gives the city 60 feet of bay frontage.

EVENING SALUTATION

For blessings ever wait on virtuous deeds,
And though a late, a sure reward succeeds.
—Congreve.

ALL HAIL THE VALENCIA!

The Valencia orange seems to be on the top of the world with us, as well it may be when we consider that it brings something like $20,000,000 a year into Orange county.

Anaheim was the first city of the county to capitalize the word. The Valencia show, held each year at the Mother Colony, is scheduled to open May 19, "bigger and better than ever." Each year for years past, Anaheim has been making just that kind of an announcement and each year has made good its pre-show declarations.

Earlier in the month, Orange is to do honor to Queen Valencia. A brilliantly picturesque pageant is to be staged at the Plaza Circle, which, by the way, is one of the distinctive features of the beautiful city of Orange.

Within the last two or three weeks, two suggestions have been made for changes of name. One was made for the change of the name of Tustin to Valencia, the other was for the changing of the name of Santa Ana junior college to the Valencia College of Santa Ana. Neither suggestion, however, seems to have gone any further than mere suggestion. Though nothing came of the suggestions, nevertheless the fact that they were made indicates that there is an appreciation by the public in general of the high value of the Valencia orange. The popularity of the name here, we might point out, has nothing to do with the popularity of a certain song. The song, we suspect, will quickly follow the path taken by untold numbers of popular songs; the Valencia orange will be with us forever.

Well, indeed, may we pay tribute to the golden fruit. That it thrives here, producing better and more oranges per tree than anywhere else in the world, in itself is proof that our soil is good and our climate free from extremes of hot and cold.

TOLERANT OF SOVIETISM

A new slant on Henry Ford developed in the course of the Sapiro libel suit against Ford for alleged slander in his Dearborn Independent. The editor of that publication said something on the witness stand about Ford's attitude toward Soviet Russia which was interpreted by the plaintiff's attorney as meaning that Ford was "pro-Soviet."

The witness disclaimed such a meaning, explaining: "I did not say that; I said he was more tolerant of the Soviet experiment than the Independent."

This is worth noting because there is not much tolerance of the "Soviet experiment" in the United States.

It is not to be supposed, of course, that Mr. Ford is friendly to Sovietism or Communism. His whole career belies any such interpretation. Ford is for individual freedom, not for state or class domination. He is for the fullest development of private enterprise, not for state socialism in any guise.

Yet somehow Ford, with all his curious array of prejudices, racial and otherwise, seems to have in him a genuine vein of tolerance. Perhaps there is in it something of the scientific spirit—which makes for tolerance.

He evidently sees Sovietism not as a nationalized devil, not as a political and economic heresy to be fought without quarter, but as an interesting independent experiment that we can learn something by watching. An experiment apparently destined to fail, but destined to teach the world useful lessons whether it fails or succeeds.

There are probably quite a few other observers in this country who, with a profound disbelief in the principles and practices of the Moscow system, feel about it very much as Ford does. Such observers take a keen interest and an intellectual satisfaction in seeing that great experiment developing as a living drama before the eyes of the nations and—as it seems to most of them—slowly discrediting itself far more effectively than any outside critic or enemy could discredit it.

THE NATIONAL PARKS

Visitors to the 19 national parks and 32 national monuments of the United States were more numerous by 260,343 in 1926 than in the preceding year. There is no doubt that enjoyment of the parks is gaining right along, and more and more Americans every year are becoming acquainted with these vast and beautiful playgrounds.

Extensive construction of new roads and trails has already begun throughout the park system, so that there will be new scenes and trips for repeaters and greater opportunities for those who enter the parks for the first time. The park system will soon include certain enchanting areas in the Blue Ridge mountains in Virginia and the Great Smokies in North Carolina.

All this is matter for real public pride and satisfaction. The slow but steady expansion of the national park system means the preservation to the American people of many beautiful and unusual regions, as worthy of attention as any of the scenic wonders of other lands and other continents.

AVERAGE PROSPERITY

Seeking light on the country's present business situation, Theodore H. Price, editor of Commerce and Finance, finds it very complicated. The facts are hard to get at, he says, and are contradictory when you do get hold of them. But he seems satisfied that conditions on the whole are good.

"Trade is spotted," he observes, "but entirely satisfactory to all who accept the fact that even in the United States an occasional year must slip by without breaking records."

Last year was adjudged, at its close, the peak of American prosperity for all time. And in spite of the fact that it seemed slow in getting under way, and most of us, as the year proceeded, had no idea that all records were being smashed.

It may be taken for granted that the present year will not break last year's remarkable record for industrial production, volume of trade and general well-being, and probably not equal it. But none of us need be astonished if it comes pretty close. And in any case, as Mr. Price intimates, we shall have no kick coming if it proves to be merely an "average year."

It is the average that indicates the American level of prosperity; and only a little study of conditions abroad gives one a thrilling sense of how immeasurably this living standard level surpasses that of other nations.

There is still some use for a king in Italy. Vittorio Emanuele reviewed "his" troops the other day. Somebody's got to review troops, and Mussolini was too busy.

The Haynes Appointment

The elevation of Roy A. Haynes to be chief of the United States prohibition law enforcement staff means that President Coolidge is determined the country shall be dry in fact as well as in name. The appointment of Haynes, it is understood, was requested by Coolidge only over the protests of Washington politicians who would have preferred an official somewhat less enthusiastically "dry."

That Haynes is the man for the job is indicated by comments made following his selection. Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, declared that the appointment was "the natural and consistent thing," while Senator Edwards of New Jersey, noted wet and spokesman of the liquor element in the upper house, asserted the appointment was "a distinct shock," adding he was sure "Secretary Mellon chose Haynes against his own wishes." That about expresses the situation. Prohibitionists are pleased at the selection of Haynes, and those who oppose prohibition are displeased.

Dry organizations have fought valiantly for the naming of Mr. Haynes; and President Coolidge is said to have ordered his appointment largely as a result of this backing. Haynes, prior to joining the prohibition unit, worked for the dry cause as a private citizen and thoroughly believes in the laws he is sworn to enforce—which is more than can be said of many federal officials.

During the last year the dry laws have become almost a farce in many sections of the country. Anyone who had the money has been able to buy an unlimited supply of intoxicants, and arrests have been largely confined to the foreign element. It is to be hoped that Haynes will enforce the laws impartially, bringing wealthy American malefactors to understand they have no more right to possess liquor than ignorant Italians and Mexicans.

If influential politicians will permit Haynes to conduct his enforcement campaign without hindrance—and the chances are he will brook no interference—the United States will soon see a prohibition era that approximates its name.

Steadying in Influence

The modern newspaper is a great stabilizer. By keeping the reading public enlightened, day after day, there is not that shock and there is not that vacillation in sentiment there was in the days when published news was meager and when the newspaper appeared weekly and was of limited circulation.

Nearly everybody reads newspapers today. Nearly everybody reads the gist of the news—local and general. Nearly everybody, therefore, is informed as to what is occurring throughout the world, and nearly everybody thus is prepared for important events affecting nations and people politically, socially and economically. There is a species of news, of course, which cannot be forecast—earthquakes, storms, disasters which come in the twinkling of an eye—events which cast no shadows before. These, naturally, shock the public.

But there is much news that is discounted in advance. Such as developments in Nicaragua, in China, in the trouble-zone of Europe. There are preliminary events before important climaxes. And so it is in politics in the United States. The people keep informed of political developments as they come, so that when presidential years arrive, the people know just about what to expect.

So complete is enlightenment given through the newspaper press, national political campaigns no longer frighten the people or causes widespread slackening in business in industry, as formerly was the case.

Orange shipments have been very heavy again this last week. We sent out no less than 325 cars, which puts us a couple of hundred ahead of last year at this date, with a total now of 3374. All of April will be pretty busy, too, with navelas and the intermediate varieties which precede the Valencia.

It is going to be a big year in volume, fine quality and good in prices. The way returns have held up in view of the immense shipments is remarkable—Redlands Facts.

STYLES IN CLOTHES HAVE LITTLE RELATION TO HEALTH NEEDS

Few people care enough about their health to select clothing with health problems in view primarily.

Unquestionably style plays as great a part as any other factor in the selection of wearing apparel. Indeed, it has been asserted that styles extremely detrimental to health are frequently selected, even with the detriment in mind. It has been asserted that the craze for reduction in weight and slenderization is a response to a change in feminine fashions.

It seems doubtful if human nature will ever be modified sufficiently or intelligence at such a high level that clothing will invariably be selected for its hygienic qualities rather than for the other considerations that may be concerned.

From the hygienic aspects clothing should protect against cold and permit diffusion of heat by circulation of air in warm weather. Moisture must not be permitted to collect on the body surface, where it may tend to macerate the skin, to open the way for infection and to produce disagreeable odor.

Under modern business conditions women workers seem to make little provision for changes from the hot season to the cold, making it necessary to overheat rooms to accommodate their light clothing and thus causing male workers who wear heavier clothing to suffer unduly with heat and dryness of the atmosphere.

Woolen clothing has the value of warmth and of taking up perspiration. It is, therefore, suitable wear for winter.

In the climate of the United States the color of the clothing seems to bear little importance to its healthful qualities. It is generally believed that white clothing absorbs fewer heat rays, which is presumably the reason for its popularity in warm weather and in the tropics.

Religion Must Ring True

Redlands Facts

It was a great privilege to have Dr. Samuel Eliot here yesterday and a large congregation listened to him at the Unitarian church in the evening. It was a sermon, full of devotion and religion, plain and simple in pointing the way through paths that are necessary to the life that is most worth while. The speaker drew a delightful analogy between a river flowing down through a fertile and fruitful valley, and contributing to this fertility and productivity, with the way Religion flows through a man's life, adding to its fruitfulness, bringing power and energy with its current and this in turn transmitted to the activities of life as the energy created by the river flow is transmitted to the towns and villages in its section; adding to the beauty of the landscape as Religion adds to the art and music and architecture of life, the river finally entering the harbor and flowing out into the boundless ocean, as the religious life reaches its fruition in the port where it exerts its fine influence and then speeds on into eternity.

Dr. Eliot pointed out that no religion is worth while unless it is permanent and continuous. It must not be a changeable Religion, but it must be abiding, preserving the good of the past, yet accepting also the good of the new. It must conserve and create. The fresh green grass springs from the old root. There is the necessity for that which is substantial behind—one cannot reach for the good thing ahead unless there is something that is good behind. But we must not mistake restlessness for progress. The past must not be our master; let us make it our servant. The man who lives only in yesterday—he is dead already. There is nothing the world needs more than a living church, rooted in the living past, but active in the living present.

Dr. Eliot thinks the outlook for Religion is excellent. He bases this on two ideas. First, that it is inevitable right minded people shall be drawn together, forgetting more and more the sectarian limitations in which they were born, and that, he characterized as the most striking characteristic of the Religion of today.

Second, the youth of the land are being drawn toward Religion, because it is an Adventure and a Romance. You may think the young are careless and indifferent in their interpretations of life. Not so. They have no use for denominational tags—they are too superficial. They are profoundly indifferent to dogma. But all they demand is that Religion shall ring true, and he who preaches Religion shall say what in his heart he believes. They want not a religion which says "thou shalt not," but one which says, "thou shalt."

"On such an adventure, I bid you God speed," concluded this remarkable sermon-address.

SUMMER LONGINGS

Ah! my heart is weary waiting.

Waiting for the May—

Waiting for the pleasant rambles

Where the fragrant hawthorn-brambles.

With the woodbine alternating.

Scent the dewy way.

Ah! my heart is weary waiting.

Waiting for the May.

Ah! my heart is sick with longing.

Longing for the May—

Longing to escape from study

To the young face fair and ruddy,

And the thousand charms belonging

To the summer's day.

Ah! my heart is sick with longing.

Longing for the May.

Ah! my heart is sore with sighing.

Sighing for the May—

Sighing for their sure returning.

When the summer beams are burning,

Hopes and flowers that, dead or dying,

All the winter lay.

Ah! my heart is sore with sighing.

Sighing for the May.

In the Long Ago

From the Register Files

March 29, 1913.

Nearly $800 was raised in Santa Ana to be sent to victims of the storms in Indiana, Illinois and Ohio. Immigration Inspector Harry Blee captured four Japanese who were making their way to Los Angeles from the border in a large touring car. Blee said that at least three of his captives were contraband.

Claude Potter, of Orange, fell 12 feet to the ground from the top of a garage, dislocating one rib in his fall.

The following advertisement appeared in The Register: For Sale—Two and one-half acres, fine home, close in, all set to fruit, good improvements, last year paid all expenses and 10 per cent on asking price. Only $7500. G. C. McCusick, 204½ East Fourth street.

The Register style notes carried the announcement that small, close fitting hats would be the most stylish type for spring.

What Is a Geography?

Fresno Republican

What is a geography?

Foolish question, perhaps, if you are thinking of finding words for an answer. But not a foolish question if we think what its relation to men's actions.

The first geography of which we know was action.

And at present geography is more and more action, rather than description.

There is the anecdote of the little girl whose teacher was despairing of instructing her in geography.

"Now, Dorothy, if you wanted to go to Seattle would you know how to get there?"

"Yes," replied the angel child, "I would go down to the station and buy a ticket."

Which is the sort of common sense that was employed by our earliest geographers, such as Herodotus. To him, geography was not a thing to be taught, but something to be done. Geography was action.

Today geography is once again more and more action and less and less thought. Perhaps too much action and not enough thought.

The excess of thought was illustrated in the Emerson dictum that he could find the whole world within 30 miles of Boston.

The excess of action is to be seen in the traveler who sees the whole world from the deck of a fast steamer, the dining rooms of American hotels in Shanghai, Bombay, Cairo and Paris.

Somewhere in between there is geography that consists of anticipated experience.

The world used to consist of what boys and men could look at, from convenient mountain top, stretching away to the four corners of the sky, or perhaps in addition the far vision out over a blue encircled sea. To this was added what the returning wanderers told, the tales of ocean voyage, the strange birds and beasts seen in trading ports.

But not to us. We learn that the world is round before we have a chance to think of it as flat. We are told when we slip our first syllables that the earth is round, like a ball, or like an apple. And we learn of the world from sheets of paper, in which spots are countries, and wavy lines border seas which for us are never wet. Some of us never escape the feeling that France is a red spot and Germany a neighboring green area. The Rhine is the way dots. The Alps are a group of men chained together, climbing something we have heard of as the Matterhorn.

That was the age of book travel. Happily it was possible. It lifted the horizon of the mind. It enabled the soul to draw from its own rich possibilities the store of pictures that made for us the world.

But it was not the world. And motion through it was not travel.

Chemistry is the laboratory just to the extent that the laboratory is the kitchen or the factory in miniature.

Books are geography just to the extent that they are walking along a road that leads to somewhere.

Freight Rates on Fruits

San Francisco Chronicle

California deciduous fruit shippers are asking the interstate commerce commission to reduce freight rates on fresh fruits for the east. The application is of interest to more than the fruit industry. It has an important bearing on the continued prosperity of the entire state.

Deciduous fruit is a basic industry in California. In 1925, 86,000 carloads of an approximate value of $129,000,000 were shipped. In addition there is canning, with an annual pack of 20,000,000 cases. Add to this the dried fruits with an output of 458,000 tons. Even then you have not included all. Fruit is a large customer of the lumber industry for packing cases, of nails, of paper and printing, of chemicals, of machinery and of many other lines of business. Something of the far-reaching importance of the case to California may be understood from this brief summary.

Now as to the rates. On June 25, 1918, the government, then operating the railroads, increased all freight rates 25 per cent. On August 25, 1920, the railroads back in private management were in very bad shape. Among increases in rates granted to lift the carriers out of the slump was one of 33 1-3 per cent on California shipment to points east of the Rocky mountains. These two increases raised the rates on deciduous fruits destined for the Atlantic seaboard from $1.15 per hundred pounds to $1.92. In that bonanza period the shippers were getting good prices. The railroads were in the dumps. The fruit industry was willing to share its prosperity with the carriers in order to put the roads on a sound basis and get adequate service.

On January 1, 1922, there was a general reduction of freight rates on agriculture. This reduced the California fruit rate to $1.73. There it remains, 50 per cent higher than in 1918, while general freight rates for the country are only 25 per cent higher. The fruit industry asks for another reduction to $1.44, leaving the rate 25 per cent higher than in 1918.

The result of the existing discrimination is becoming alarmingly apparent. From a shipment of 86,000 carloads in 1925 deciduous fruit fell off to 78,000 in 1926. Unless the shippers get relief so that they can sell their products in the eastern markets at profitable price, there will in all probability be further falling off and a permanent injury to the industry of the state.

In the meantime the big railroads have not only got out of their slump but are enjoying their part of the greatest prosperity in our history. There are 13 roads involved in the rate case, so the entire reduction will not fall upon any one railroad.

The law says that where agriculture is in need of encouragement the interstate commerce commission "shall establish the lowest possible lawful rate compatible with adequate service." The deciduous fruit industry is paying 50 per cent higher freight rates than in 1918, while other industries pay only 25 per cent more. The fruit industry is paying 52 per cent of its gross receipts for freight while other industries pay only 25 per cent.

California fruit growers have a good case and it will be good business for the railroads. If the railroads are to succeed the shippers on their lines must be prosperous.

The Pirate

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS.

"STOP wiggling your head in that silly manner!" scolds mother to Bud, and Bud just looks at her vaguely, and the chances are he keeps right on wiggling his head. He doesn't half hear her because he's so busy by the mechanical turtle he saw in a downtown window. In case he does hear her his passing observation is probably why he should be bothered and interrupted. He is surprised when he is accused of being disobedient and possibly punished. Silly of mother not to see he was a turtle and couldn't stop wiggling his head! Why couldn't one be a turtle—without being punished? If Bud asked me I'd have to tell him it's because mother is so busy bringing him up according to rote that she fails to recognize that a good many of her commands are just habit and given without consideration, of the necessity for issuing an order, or the effect upon him when interrupted in an innocent play. She even fails to recognize his antics as play in the land of make believe so commonly visited by children who are thoughtlessly renched from it by unsympathetic grown-ups.

ROBBIE is an Indian on the warpath when we play And Ivan is a sailor in the rigging swinging high, Peter goes a-roaring like a lion in a rage, But I'm a bold bad pirate with a black patch on my eye.

I'm a pirate with a patch I can hide in any hatch, I've a blunderbuss and sword, and I'm as bold as I can be, I've a hidden treasure trove In a far off banyan grove.

And when I have my patch tied on I'm bad most specially! Polly is a fairy when we're playing just-pretend, And Ted's an ax-joint doing stunts up in the sky.

Henry rides a broncho that's the fiercest, wildest horse, But I'm a bold bad pirate with a black patch on my eye!
